Trainmen Rebel, Strike Continues On PGE Line

VANCOUVER (CP) — Pacific Great Eastern Railway trainmen rebelled against their union leaders Monday night and continued to strike against the provincially-owned railway only hours after agreement was announced.

Picket lines went up again around PGE yards, and the trainmen said they would not return to work.

They said they were sold down the river by their negotiating committee, which signed an agreement to end the strike that began Feb. 2 without permitting a vote among striking members of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen (CLC).

NOT UNTIL VOTE

The move came only hours after Labor Minister Leslie Peterson and representatives of the PGE and the brotherhood's negotiating committee emerged from a meeting to announce a settlement.

The railway then announced normal service on the 750-mile line from Vancouver to Fort St. John would resume today.

The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen sent a letter Monday night to J. S. Broadbent, general manager of the PGE, telling him the local's members would not go back to work until they vote on the new contract.

The strike was called off at noon with the signing of a contract agreed to by J. W. Robinson, chairman of the brotherhood's PGE locals.

Before it was signed, members sought an injunction to prevent the ratification, but were too late.

ARK RESIGNATION

They called an emergency meeting and asked Mr. Robinson to resign as general chairman of Locals 1080 and 645.

A union spokesman said the strike is legal, not wildcat, and is based on the union's constitution.

PGE General Manager Broadbent said the trains would run regardless of what the local does.

Two freights left North Vancouver yards Monday night, apparently manned by engineers, with supervisory personnel acting as train crew.

A week after the 185 trainmen down and laid off 1,400 non-striking employees because of telephoned threats to them and their families.

Mediator G. Neil Perry made a report to the government on the strike, and the agreement signed at noon Monday was based on this report.

Australia Going To Dollar Plan

CANBERRA (Reuters) — Australia will switch to decimal currency Feb. 14, 1966. Federal Treasurer Harold Holt announced Sunday night. The Australian dollar will be worth half of the present Australian pound, or $1.20 Canadian.

At Royal Film Performance

Threat to Margaret Reported in London

LONDON (Reuters) — Two newspapers report a threat has been made against Princess Margaret.

Scotland Yard declined comment on the stories which appear in The Daily Mirror and The Sun in connection with the princess' attendance at the annual royal film performance here Monday night.

Margaret, her husband Lord Snowdon and Queen Mother Elizabeth went to the Odeon Theatre in Leicester Square for the performance, the premiere of the movie Lord Jim.

The Mirror quotes a police superintendent in charge of security at the Odeon.

"We are taking special precautions because a threat has been made against Princess Margaret."

The newspaper says later, at Scotland Yard, an officer said: "We know of no threat."

The Sun says extra police were drafted to the royal film performance "after a threat had been made against Princess Margaret."

OTTAWA (CP) — Elected member John Goodall cautioned the Northwest Territories Council Monday against banning the sale of overproof rum in the north.

"If I voted for it, I could wrap myself in the Red Ensign and it still wouldn't save me from mayhem," said the 76-year-old former postmaster of Fort Simpson.

Council postponed action on a recommendation from commissioner B. G. Sivertz that the sale of overproof rum not be extended to territorial liquor stores in Inuvik, Frobisher Bay and other centres. It now is stocked by stores in Yellowknife and Fort Smith.

Mr. Sivertz said the stronger brew wasn't carried in the Mackenzie area because "Delta Indians and Eskimos apparently did not realize that the potency of overproof rum meant incapacity twice as fast."

Several council members said it isn't fair that the potent brew is available in some communities and not in others.

and in ceremonies at Canadian diplomatic and trade posts in New Zealand and Australia. In Ottawa 10,000 persons cheered the maple leaf to the masthead on Parliament Hill.

The provincial capitals greeted the new flag too.

A brilliant blue sky and 10-below temperatures gave added sparkle to a brief but impressive ceremony as the flag snapped out in a brisk wind over Winnipeg. Four RCAF jet aircraft flew overhead and a band played O Canada.

A six-man color guard of members of veterans' associations escorted the lowered Red Ensign into the provincial library where it was placed behind the Book of Remembrance.

The flag was also raised at NATO headquarters in Paris.

Separatists Hoot, Yell

QUEBEC CITY (UPI) — A small but noisy group of separatists hooted and yelled during flag-raising ceremonies Monday.

POLICE SHOOT DEMONSTRATORS

SAIGON (AP) — Troops put down anti-government demonstrations in two northern towns of South Viet Nam Monday, killing 15 civilians in one of them. South Vietnamese government spokesmen here said the Viet Cong may have inspired both outbursts.

Moscow Warns:

'Air Strikes Could Spark World War'

MOSCOW (UPI) — Moscow Radio said today the United States air strikes against North Viet Nam could lead to a world war. It said the "responsibility for the dire consequences for such a policy rest with America."

"The flames of war starting in one place could easily spread to neighboring countries and, in the final count, embrace the whole world," Moscow Radio said.

Meanwhile, Chinese Foreign Minister Chen Yi called for a joint Soviet-Chinese policy of "concrete action" against "U.S. imperialism." The Chinese statement, monitored in Tokyo, said such a get-tough policy is the only way to consolidate and develop Sino-Soviet unity.

ATTACKS PLANNED
Moscow Radio said, "judging from reports the United States is making preparations for new raids" on North Viet Nam.

"Large contingents of U.S. armed forces are being concentrated off the shores of Indo-China, including an extremely powerful striking force from the U.S. 7th Fleet."

The Soviet broadcast said that North Viet Nam, as a member of the Communist community, "will not be left to stand alone."

LISTED INSTALLATIONS
A statement listed seven North Vietnamese installations as figuring heavily in the infiltration. By implication, all seven are potentially targets for future bombing raids.

The expected announcement of a new government, the eighth shakeup in 16 months, was delayed. Informed sources said there was a snag about the appointment of a new interior minister.

The nominee was Tran Van Tuyen, slated also to become deputy premier. He is of North Vietnamese extraction and the military, while liking him personally, questioned whether a man with such a background could well handle interior ministry dealings with the touchy religious groups of South Viet Nam.

Working on Delivery

China Reported Ready
To Test Hydrogen Bomb

LONDON (UPI) — Communist China plans to test a second nuclear device very shortly, informed sources said Monday.

It was learned it is likely to be a hydrogen device.

China exploded its first nuclear device last October, and experts said later it showed Peking is further advanced in the field than suspected.

It was understood Monday that Peking has been accelerating its nuclear-weapons program and the development of some form of delivery system.

The Chinese Reds apparently are pushing the nuclear program to boost prestige.

The closest thing to an official hint of Peking's nuclear ambitions came in the Peking Review, a government weekly, which said:

"China will spare no effort to scale the peaks in these matters and catch up and surpass the most advanced imperialist countries in modern science and technology."

The Chinese Communists in their first nuclear test used enriched uranium instead of plutonium.

The experts believe this characterizes the phase that would normally precede the development of a hydrogen device.

The authoritative Royal Institute for International Affairs recently published an assessment suggesting China may have cut in half the time required to produce hydrogen weapons.

The Peking regime could have H-bombs in two to five years, the institute theorized.

It is felt in diplomatic circles that China is concentrating on small rockets which could carry tactical nuclear warheads from 500 to 1,000 miles.

These, of course, could not reach the United States, but could be aimed at Southeast Asian nations now under U.S. influence.

According to diplomatic dispatches from the Chinese Embassy in Beijing, the Chinese Communists have an almost pathological determination to join the United States and Soviet Union as a major nuclear power.

Message

MOSCOW (AP) — A senior British diplomat met for 30 minutes Monday with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei I. Gromyko. He hinted later they discussed the Viet Nam crisis and that he may be carrying a Soviet message back to London.

Threat

HONG KONG (AP) — The Communist Chinese newspaper Ta Kung Pao said Monday China not only will enter the Vietnamese war but also will reopen the Korean war if U.S. troops cross the 17th parallel into North Viet Nam.

Pickets

MONTREAL (CP) — Some 300 demonstrators picketed the United States consulate Sunday in protest against U.S. military action in Viet Nam.

The 90-minute march was the third and largest since U.S. bombing raids of North Viet Nam began.

New Premier

SAIGON (Reuters) — South Viet Nam's military leaders Monday appointed a former foreign minister, Phan Huy Quat, as premier.

Last Lost

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI) — Laotian and North Vietnamese forces have captured the last remaining stronghold in north-righting Vietnam in the north.

A Laotian army high command spokesman said today.

The spokesman said Houa Muong, 165 miles northeast of Vientiane, fell before an attack by a combined Communist force estimated at six battalions, supported by heavy artillery and anti-aircraft weapons.

Toasts, Jets, Tears Greet Maple Leaf

By CANADIAN PRESS

In a day of toasts and scarlet tunics, booming guns and howling jets, salutes and pledges of loyalty, cheers, smiles and some tears, Canada and the world greeted the new maple leaf flag Monday.

At the United Nations in New York, the new flag joined those of 114 other nations. The Red Ensign was lowered at noon and handed to a UN undersecretary to be retained as one of the original flags of the world body.

Japanese college girls rendered "God Save the Queen" in Tokyo as Canadian embassy officials hoisted the flag. About 180 Canadians were present.

About 100 persons stood silent outside Canada House in London as the maple leaf flag flew over British soil for the first time.

High Commissioner Lionel Chevrier, officials and guests celebrated the occasion in champagne.

There was champagne too in Moscow after the ceremony outside the Canadian Embassy.

About 400 persons, many of them Canadian children waving small Canadian flags, attended a Washington ceremony.

A six-man color guard of members of veterans' associations escorted the lowered Red Ensign into the provincial library where it was placed behind the Book of Remembrance.

The flag was also raised at NATO headquarters in Paris.

Exploding Peroxide Spatters Children

MAPLETON, N.D. (AP) — A shattering explosion roared through the tiny town of Mapleton Monday following the derailment of a peroxide-loaded freight train on the Northern Pacific's main line.

Children, playing in the schoolyard and on their way to school, were splattered with chemical debris. Dozens of buildings were damaged and windows on stores and homes were shattered. But no one was reported seriously injured.

The accident occurred about a quarter of a mile west of the Mapleton depot. The village is about 10 miles west of Fargo in east central North Dakota.

The violent force of the accident smashed and twisted boxcars like pieces of toffee. Then fire raced through the twisted debris, destroying about 30 of the cars, said Roy Johnson, assistant superintendent of the railway's Fargo division.

The explosion was triggered in a tank car filled with industrial peroxide, officials said.

About 24 school children were splattered with the peroxide when it sprayed through the air. They washed off the flecks of chemical and appeared to suffer no ill effects.

Tabled at the meeting was the result of a two-year study of the high number of suicides in the territories. In 1964 the rate per 100,000 population in the provinces was 7.2 compared with 14.7 in the territories.

In 25 per cent of the 20 territorial suicides, the person was under the influence of alcohol, the report said, adding that there were no suicides among

Top-Level Talks Held by Kosygin

By JOHN BEST

MOSCOW (CP) — Premier Alexei Kosygin returned Monday from an Asian tour that dramatically symbolized Russia's new involvement in an arena tense with the possibility of open conflict between the United States and China.

Diplomatic observers felt that on balance Soviet interests had been damaged rather than helped by the premier's 11-day trip to North Viet Nam, China and North Korea. They saw Russia as having been drawn, possibly by subterfuge on the part of the Chinese and North Vietnamese, into the Viet Nam conflict in a way and on a scale that it probably did not intend. As a result, basic facets of Soviet foreign policy may have been undermined or compromised, including the policy of peaceful coexistence with the West. Observers speculated that it will take a long time for the Soviets to put the pieces together again.

Kosygin, after stepping off the plane which brought him to Moscow from the Soviet far east, conferred privately with the Communist party's first secretary, Leonid Brezhnev, and other high Soviet officials. The meeting lasted 25 minutes. Then Kosygin and Brezhnev left the airport in separate cars.

Some observers felt the Soviet government fell into a trap by sending Kosygin to North Viet Nam. The belief is that the Chinese and Hanoi Communists staged for his benefit the assaults on U.S. military installations in South Viet Nam which they knew would bring American retaliatory air raids.

It is assumed here that the Soviet leadership will want to study carefully the sequence and background of events in Viet Nam before deciding how far to push its new involvement policy. On the plus side the Soviet delegation got support from the North Vietnamese and North Koreans for Russia's policy of peaceful coexistence, which Peking opposes.

He also studied at Heidelberg University, in West Germany, before coming to B.C.

Bennett Blocking Banks?

Creditists Claimed Acting Under His Instructions

TORONTO (CP) — Members of the Ralliement des Creditistes are under instructions from Premier W. A. C. Bennett of British Columbia to obstruct passage of bills to charter new banks, the proposed Bank of Western Canada — that the Creditists are filibustering in the House of Commons.

Sinclair Stevens told the annual meeting of his company, which is the major sponsor of bills to charter new banks, the proposed Bank of Western Canada — that the Creditists are filibustering in the House of Commons. He said they have openly acknowledged that they are delaying petitions for bank bills on instructions of Mr. Bennett, whose government has so far failed to obtain Senate approval of its petition to charter the Bank of British Columbia.

Even the Creditiste party is not opposed to incorporating new banks," he said, "but they feel as a political tactic they must hold up our bill in the hope such action will lever the Bank of British Columbia through both houses."

Bail Set at $10,000

In Narcotics Case

VANCOUVER (CP) — Dennis Kelly, 28, one of two men arrested here in a raid by narcotics investigators, Monday was remanded a day when he appeared before Magistrate Douglas Hume charged with possession for the purposes of trafficking.

Bail was set at $10,000 and Kelly remained in custody. Arrested with him Friday was Nicholas Alexander Karpowich, 28, who was charged with possession of narcotics. He was freed on bail of $1,000.

The raids here turned up a 28-oz power boat where police said they found empty gelatin capsules, measuring scales and milk sugar and other paraphernalia used in preparing heroin for underworld sale.

The arrests here coincided with the arrest of Roy Joseph Travis, 26, of Vancouver, in Yuba City, Calif., where police said they found $100,000 worth of heroin under the dashboard of his plane. He was charged on several counts of drug possession following his arrest with results from a tip from authorities here.

Officers involved in the Vancouver raids said the power cruiser was owned by Travis. Yuba City police said the seized 18 ounces of heroin could be bought for about $300 an ounce in Mexico and could be sold to street pushers for about $72,000 and be retailed by them to addicts for more than $100,000.

Quake Blocks

Medical Aid

TEHRAN (AP) — Last Wednesday's quake in northwest Iran knocked out communications and prevented medical aid from reaching 11 children who died in a measles epidemic, reports reaching here said. The reports said at least 21 villages were severely damaged in the quake, with five totally ruined. At least five persons were reported killed by the quake itself.

Road Contracts

Expected Soon

KAMLOOPS (CP) — Highway Minister Gagliardi says contracts for the remainder of the Yellowhead route will be called shortly.

Two contracts for 30 mile sections east and west of Tete Jaune Cache will be called out within the next few days and the other within a month, he said.

Your Good Health

Patient Must Find Allergy Before He Can Lose Hives

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Dear Dr. Molner: Do certain fruits cause hives? I had a crop of itching hives especially in the evening, after eating peaches, melons and plums, and drinking grape juice.

Baking soda seems to help the itching but does not stop the hives. — T.J.B.

Fruit (not to mention a lot of other things) can cause hives in some people, but won't bother others at all.

Many people have minor allergies. They do not have hay fever or other severe reactions, but they react in some way, things being a very frequent cause to certain things they eat, seafood, meats, fruits, vegetables.

You obviously have at least a strong suspicion that fruit for certain kinds of it is the culprit in your case. Sometimes such a sensitivity appears only when rather considerable quantities are eaten — things which are in season. For some people it happens with tomatoes or strawberries or other items. Or melons. Or peaches. Or almost anything imaginable.

Baking soda may ease the itch but it won't either cure or prevent the hives.

You'll save yourself trouble (and itching) if you accept the fact that avoiding the fruit in which you are sensitive is the only effective cure, or means of prevention.

As the suspected fruits come in season, try them one at a time (otherwise you'll never be certain). If hives follow one of these fruits, you have three choices: Avoid it entirely; or experiment and see whether you can stand just a little without a reaction; or have hives.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 43 and have been having it or 12 but flashes a day and I perspire profusely. Are hormones advisable at this time and is there a possibility of any side effects from them? — Miss M.H.J.

Hormone medication, usually in pill form, is very widely used. Side effects are possible with virtually any medication in at least some cases, but moderate hormone dosage for this purpose very rarely causes any difficulty.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is there any cure for celiac disease or sprue in an adult? I have been on a diet for three years now and cannot eat anything with gluten. It causes dysentery constantly.

You have suggested gluten-free bread, but that seems to be for "low-gluten" patients and does not suit me. Soy flour can be used but is not very palatable. — S.K.

A gluten-free diet is the best treatment for non-tropical sprue. This is one of the malabsorption disorders — the body cannot absorb gluten. However, with proper diet it can be arrested and occasionally cured.

Gluten is the protein portion of the wheat kernel. When this portion is removed from the starchy foods of the diet, the diarrhea lessens.

DIFFICULT DIET

The diet, I concede, is difficult to prepare because of the necessity for avoiding wheat products. Plain rice flour can be used to make bread. The diet can become monotonous, however. Corn products can also be used.

I suggest that you see whether there is a visiting nurse association in your area with a nutritionist. Or perhaps a hospital dietitian could help you with specific suggestions of such products as are available in your locality.

MONTREAL (CP) — A union negotiator said Monday "chances are good" Quebec Liquor Board outlets will be back in business before the end of the week.

The statement was made during a break in union-management talks on details of a new contract.

Music Echoes

During a break between the indoor ceremony and the time the guests and officials moved outside, pre-recorded music was heard throughout the building. You Always Hurt the One You Love echoed through the halls.

In contrast with the rest of the country, the British Columbia flag raising was performed without ceremony. Only four persons — the legislature flag custodian, a commissioner, a newspaper man and a photographer — witnessed the event at sunrise — more than four hours before the maple leaf came into official use.

The new flag also flew in several foreign nations where units of the Canadian armed forces are serving.

Canadian forces serving with peace-keeping missions in Cyprus and Egypt and with NATO in France and Germany raised the flag Monday, as did navy units now in the West Indies.

In Alaska, the Royal Canadian Regiment took time out from the U.S. army's Exercise Polar Strike to raise the flag.

The maple leaf banner was also waving at the North Pole. The flag, encased in a canister, had been dropped a few days earlier by an RCAP Argus aircraft during a navigation training flight.

At Edmonton, the flag was raised after Lieutenant-Governor J. Percy Page of Alberta read a proclamation in the rotunda of the legislative building. Premier E. C. ## 20,000 Storm Embassy JAKARTA (UPI)—An estimated 20,000 anti-American demonstrators marched on the U.S. embassy Monday. Indonesian police kept the mobs away from the building.

The Indonesian government said it took over the nearby U.S. Information Service library "temporarily" when the demonstrators, diverted from the embassy, tried to storm the library. The building was closed at the time.

AGAINST RAHMAN—

The demonstration was sponsored by the government's National Front in protest of the U.S. retaliatory air raids against Communist North Viet Nam last week.

The crowd burned effigies of President Johnson and Uncle Sam, who was holding an atom bomb, and also an effigy of Malaysian Premier Rahman. Indonesia's President Sukarno has vowed to "crush" the Malaysian demonstration.

STRONG PROTEST—

The U.S. state department made a "strong" formal protest over the demonstration. Officials said the Indonesian authorities "did not provide full protection or prevent the crowd from" getting into the library. The library and cultural centre had been sacked by another mob last December but was reopened shortly afterward.

Woman Killed In Collision

GRAND FORKS (CP)—Mrs. Laura Podovnikoff, 45, of Grand Forks died Monday when her car collided with a logging truck driven by W. Arishenkoff of Grand Forks about eight miles west of here. The truck driver was uninjured. A coroner's inquiry has been ordered.

Banned Play Staged In Rome Bookstore

ROME (AP)—Government officials invoked Italy's 1929 concordat with the Vatican Monday night and banned public performances of the controversial German play The Deputy in this centre of Roman Catholicism.

But a group of actors staged a performance anyway in a bookstore before 150 spectators.

The Vatican, through its newspaper L'Osservatore Romano, had raised strong objections to performances of The Deputy in Rome. The play, by Rolf Hochhuth, suggests that the late Pope Pius XII did not do as much as he could have done to save Jews from Nazi persecution in the Second World War.

Logger Wins Damage Suit

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Vancouver logger was awarded $2,250 damages in Supreme Court Monday for a bunkhouse heating last September at Jeanne Landing in the Prince Rupert area.

Mr. Justice F. K. Collins awarded damages against loggers John Morell and Carl Hansen to Victor Kiritsis.

Monstrous Miner

Half-ton pickup truck is dwarfed at feet of monster strip shovel built for mining coal at Lenzburg, Ill. Huge device can scoop up 210 tons of dirt in freight-car-size bites every 45 seconds, weighs 18,000,000 pounds and is wider than eight-lane highway.

Another Deserter Has Double

O'Connors the Same In More Than Name

LONDON (AP) — Patrick life was no longer for him. He skipped and sought refuge across the Irish Sea, well beyond the reach of British law.

But the military police found a Patrick O'Connor still in England. The name matched, the ages matched, the accents matched, so they took him in.

PHONED ARMY

Patrick spent five days in an army guardroom until his AWL namesake read of his plight. He phoned from Dublin and told the army they had the wrong man.

Said O'Connor the civilian: "It was fantastic—in the end they even had me half believing I was a deserter."

This weekend the MPs struck again. This time in search of Hugh O'Connor, late of the Royal Irish Fusiliers. In Luton, north of London, they brought Hugh O'Connor into magistrate's court and charged him with being absent without leave from the Fusiliers.

SIMILAR TATTOOS

Once again the descriptions matched. Same brown hair, same blue eyes, same vaccination marks, even similar tattoos on the arm.

But the O'Connors in court produced documents to prove he was only 14 years old. He admitted telling people he was 19 but said that was to get a job in an auto plant.

The magistrates let him go, and Hugh O'Connor set off to rejoin his family in Dublin.

"If I stay here," he said, "I shall have to go to school."

Fourteen is the minimum school-leaving age in Ireland, 15 in Britain.

While the performance was going on, several policemen appeared outside but made no attempt to enter. The play continued after word reached the troupe by telephone that the prohibition was in effect. After the performance, the audience dispersed quietly and the actors said they would resume their sit-in protest.

Perhaps Illegal

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Food-vending trucks have been parking beside C. G. Adams' confectionery and enticing his customers away. Police said, the 78-year-old Adams related in a written statement, he poured gasoline on a food truck and set it afire Saturday. He was arrested for investigation of arson.

Sidney Sewers

Report Clears Commission

A report from inspector of municipalities J. E. Brown has freed the Sidney village commission from implications that special favors had been granted in sewer building contracts.

But the report charges that the root of the difficulties lies in the woefully inadequate records maintained and the procedures followed by the clerk and commission.

SPECIAL MEETING

The report was read by commission chairman A. A. Cormack at Monday's special public meeting of the Sidney village commission, attended by 35 villagers.

Before taking any action the commission decided to refer the report to the committee of the whole commission and make a report at a special meeting to be held at a suitable date.

CHARGE LAID

A charge that the Sidney village commission had been involved in an "illegal deal" has been under investigation by the municipal affairs department.

The charge had been made by commissioner Andries Boas in connection with the recent construction of the Sidney sewer extension project.

The probe was undertaken at the request of Mr. Cormack because "all members of council were under a cloud of suspicion."

B.C. Ban Wanted

Saanich Goes Along With Fireworks Rule

Saanich council Monday approved an intermunicipal committee recommendation banning the sale or discharge of fireworks except by recognized groups.

It is hoped similar adoption by all Greater Victoria municipalities will lead to a B.C. ban by the provincial government.

NOT GENERAL

Specifically the recommendation covers "explosive" fireworks, not general fireworks.

Council also decided to write B.C. Hydro requesting reduced transit rates for Grade 13 and university students. Reduced fares now cover students up to and including Grade 12.

In other matters, council:

- Endorsed in principle recommendations of the recent juvenile delinquency report.
- Approved the hiring of a personnel officer and assistant to controller John Tribe with the dual position to be advertised among municipal staff.

'Difficulty Or Error' Led to Death

A six-man coroner's jury Monday night returned a verdict of accidental death in the case of Herbert Winship, 43, of 653 Strandline.

The jury found Mr. Winship died about 12:30 p.m. Feb. 10 in Metehosin from multiple injuries, loss of blood and hemorrhaging when he was pinned under a tractor he was driving off a tandem truck.

"It appears he experienced some difficulty or error in judgment while driving the tractor off the truck," the jury reported.

Accountants Meet Today

Oak Bay Reserves Decision On School Rezoning Request

Oak Bay council has reserved decision on an application from Glenlyon Preparatory School for rezoning of land at 1720 Beach Drive from single-family dwelling to school purposes.

Coun. Dr. Harold Carter said his motion against the application, on the ground that it was "further commercial encroachment on residential area," was passed by a committee of council.

However, the decision did not appear in the committee minutes, and council Monday night decided to hear more views on the controversial application.

Hamish Simpson, headmaster of the school, made a strong bid for the application before council Monday night.

He admitted there has been opposition from representatives of an apartment building beside the present school.

"The measure of any community is its people and its education," he told council.

Coun. Doug Watts said it was unfortunate the committee heard from the opponents to the application but did not hear Mr. Simpson's representation.

Mr. Simpson claimed the apartment building next door probably had one of the lowest vacancy rates in Greater Victoria.

"Is that not the acid test of apartment development?" he asked.

The school proposes to buy a house across the street from the present school building, convert this house into a residence for about 12 boys and add one small classroom.

Dr. Carter asked "if this is granted, what is to stop the school from adding five classrooms later?"

Reeve Cox said this should be considered by council before a decision is made.

Condition Called Poor

A Metehosin man, admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital with head injuries suffered Saturday in a car smash-up on Gorge Road, was in poor condition Monday, a hospital spokesman said.

John Richard Lloyd, 37, Duke, was unconscious when police took him to the hospital. He was thrown nearly 30 feet from his car after it smashed into a stone wall of the Windsor Auto Court, 260 Gorge.

'Suspicion Is Not Proof'

A Victoria teen-ager was cleared Monday in city magistrate's court of a charge of unlawful possession.

Robert McCrea, 17, of 540 Manchester, pleaded not guilty to the charge, which said that on Dec. 21 he received a number of articles of men's clothing and other items, totalling less than $50 in value, which he knew had been obtained unlawfully from Woodward's.

BY CREDIT CARD

The articles were said to have been given him by a girl friend who obtained them from the store by means of a credit card which did not belong to her.

Magistrate William Ooster accepted defence counsel Robert Price's submission that the Crown had not proved McCrea knew the articles were unlawfully obtained or exhibits produced in court were the articles in question.

The matter "bristled with suspicion," but suspicion was no substitute for proof, the magistrate said.

Another teen-ager charged with unlawful possession of articles worth less than $50 was sentenced to eight months' detention and four months' ineligibility at the Oakalla young offenders' unit.

He was Gerald Harvey, 16, of 46 South Turner, who had pleaded guilty. The offence occurred the week before Christmas.

LEFT "SPEECHLESS" — Defence counsel Dermot Owen-Flood told magistrate the account of Harvey's background in a pre-sentence report left him "speechless."

The magistrate agreed with Mr. Owen-Flood that there was good in Harvey, but he must be removed from his present environment.

"There is no hope for the boy unless the current pattern of his living is changed," the magistrate said.

A sailor and a civilian, convicted of fighting in a public place were remanded until Feb. 23 for sentence.

Gregory Mills, HMCS Naden, and Charn Dhillon, 827 Princess, both pleaded guilty to causing a disturbance.

Police said the two, surrounded by about 40 youths, were seen fighting on Pandora near Uncle Jake's discotheque, Saturday night.

A bid by Mr. Birkett for the confiscation of a convicted bootlegger's car was rejected by Magistrate Ostler. The car belonged to Rudolph Tarko, 732 Kings Road, convicted Friday of keeping liquor for sale at that address.

Magistrate Ostler ruled that, for confiscation, there would have to be proof Tarko had used the vehicle as a place from which to sell liquor.

The magistrate adjourned the case until Thursday to consider the validity of a police warning to Tarko that, because of a previous conviction, the prosecution might seek a "higher penalty" in his case.

Ensign Thefts Charged

Special to the Colonist

A Comox man was charged Monday afternoon with stealing Red Ensign flags from atop the Courtenay and Comox post offices earlier in the day of Canada's official change to the new flag.

RCMP officials said Art Constable will appear in magistrate's court again today. Bail has been set at $250.

They said the loss of the Red Ensigns was discovered late in the morning, shortly before the official change of noon.

One flag was taken from a short flagpole on the top of the one-storey Comox post office, the other from a taller pole atop the two-storey Courtenay building.

New Canadian flags were raised above both buildings at noon.

LITTLE INTEREST

Elsewhere on the Island, little interest was shown by the public in flag ceremonies.

Only two reporters and a photographer attended when postmaster H. J. Parsley officiated in Parkville, where the Parkville and District Chamber of Commerce had failed in a bid to become the first Canadian community to fly the flag.

TWO IN DUNCAN

In Duncan, Mayor Jack Dobson's vote broke a tie in city council and approved a motion that both the Union Jack and new flag fly over city hall.

"We will not be criticized," said the mayor, "for not scrapping this flag (Union Jack) so soon after Sir Winston Churchill's death... the same flag under which so many have

"You're just picking on me because I'm driving a Cadillac," were words reported by a city police officer to have been spoken to him by a driver subsequently charged with failing to make a hand signal.

The man, William Hollick, 494 Island Highway, pleaded not guilty.

Magistrate Ostler dismissed the case, saying the wrong charge had been laid.

In Esquimalt court, a private of the Queen's Own Rifles was cleared of a common assault charge.

William P. Spring, Work Point Barracks, had pleaded not guilty in a case where Magistrate Ostler said there was sharp conflict between the evidence of plaintiff and defendant.

LATE SATURDAY

Robert Peden, 2445 Rockland, testified that shortly before midnight Saturday, while inside the Hall Way Lunch, 858 Esquimalt, he was hit in the face by Spring, who later hit him a second time outside the cafe.

Spring admitted having had words with Peden, but denied hitting him.

School Names Changed Here

Three Victoria schools currently on the drawing boards will receive new names, the Greater Victoria school board decided Monday.

The board changed University Village School to Fairburn, Ferndale School to Hillcrest and Denman School to Victor. Fairburn will be located on Fairburn Drive, Hillcrest at Hillcrest and Charlwell, and Victor on Victor Street.

Choice Land Going

By JACK FREY

The provincial lands department plans to lease two strips of choice waterfront on Valdes Island near Nanaimo to people who applied for subdivisions there.

It was about the last crown land available for summer cottage type development in the Vancouver Island area, lands officials said Monday.

ALREADY SURVEYED

"Applications for lot leases on Valdes Island did not pass before the public eye because of a legal technicality—that no advertisement is needed in connection with an application to lease crown land already surveyed."

First public hint of the development was Feb. 4, 1963, B.C. Gazette announcement that a 67-lot subdivision has been formed on the southeastern side of the island.

NOT COMPLETED

A smaller subdivision at the northeastern end has also been approved although lot subdivision has not been completed.

Though this land was not advertised for public sale, a search through government land records would have indicated it was available since 1938 when it reverted to the crown through non-payment of taxes, the officials said.

Names of the Valdes Island property holders were published with the Feb. 4 Gazette announcement. A number of the property holders are provincial civil servants.

Lots in the first subdivision are about 198 feet wide and 900 deep. They were leased at $40 a lot for a 21-year period.

These leases will bring the government $2,680 a year and a total of $56,280 during the 21-year period. Taxes will also be derived from any summer cottages built on the land.

'Star Chamber Ruling Liquor'

By IAN STREET

The drinking habits of British Columbians are being twisted to make the most money in the shortest time for "great barn-like" beer parlors, the legislature was told Monday.

Alex Macdonald (NDP-Vancouver East) said "the great vested interests" who control beer parlors are running the whole liquor system in this province.

He called for immediate establishment of a public inquiry into B.C. liquor laws by a commission composed of prominent citizens representing industry, labor and the churches.

HIDDEN IN BUDGET
"We are tired of being controlled by the big breweries, who, as is well known, make fat campaign contributions to Social Credit," said Mr. Macdonald. He said the government makes $33,000,000 a year in profit from liquor sales and yet "looks the other way when somebody mentions broken laws or broken lives."

Macdonald

"They won't even call liquor revenue by its right name," said Mr. Macdonald. "It is hidden in the budget under 'government enterprises'."

Instead of a three-man liquor commission, said Mr. Macdonald, the province has a "one-man liquor czar."

"The board never holds hearings," he said. "It never gives reasons for its decisions. It puts nothing in writing, yet has vast powers to make regulations and control the social life of the public."

He added: "It is a Star Chamber setup, all the worse because it operates in the darkest secrecy."

NO COZY PUBS

"Whatever happened to the idea of a small cozy bar where people could talk in quiet restful surroundings? Why not have pubs, as they have in England, where people can get a snack, play darts or shuffleboard, and have a good time?"

Most beer parlors are so noisy you can't hear yourself think, Mr. Macdonald said, and they are geared to putting as much beer as possible into their customers in the shortest possible time.

The Letter

Writer Named Today

This afternoon in the legislature Harry McKay (L-Fernie) will make good a Liberal promise to name the writer of the piece.

The government was given an ultimatum last Thursday to name the culprit or have the next Liberal speaker do its duty.

Attorney-general Robert Bonner said the government would not bow to ultimatums of this kind and indicated the results of an RCMP investigation now in progress would be announced Friday.

'DIRTY TRICK'

The attorney-general's handling of the "Dear Hal" letter in the Stonehill case would make any law student blush, Alex Macdonald (NDP-Vancouver East) told the House Monday.

It was also a "dirty trick" to play on poor Mr. Pearson to infer Premier Bennett's hot potato in the Dorion inquiry, he said. However, the prime minister had the presence of mind of tossing it back without burning his fingers.

"What does Mr. Bonner mean by shipping a case of suspected forgery down to Ottawa to be, as he said, processed in Mr. Pearson's office? And what was Premier Bennett up to by pushing it off to the Dorion inquiry?"

Mr. Macdonald said it isn't easy to take these "legal shenanigans" with a straight face.

"When those two old pigs,

Harry Alan Godfrey, 30, died Sunday in hospital at Ashcroft from injuries suffered when his car and a logging truck collided near Clinton Jan. 29.

Premier Bennett and Attorney-General Bonner, swung into one of their political soft-shoe numbers, they leave us with our mouths hanging open," he said.

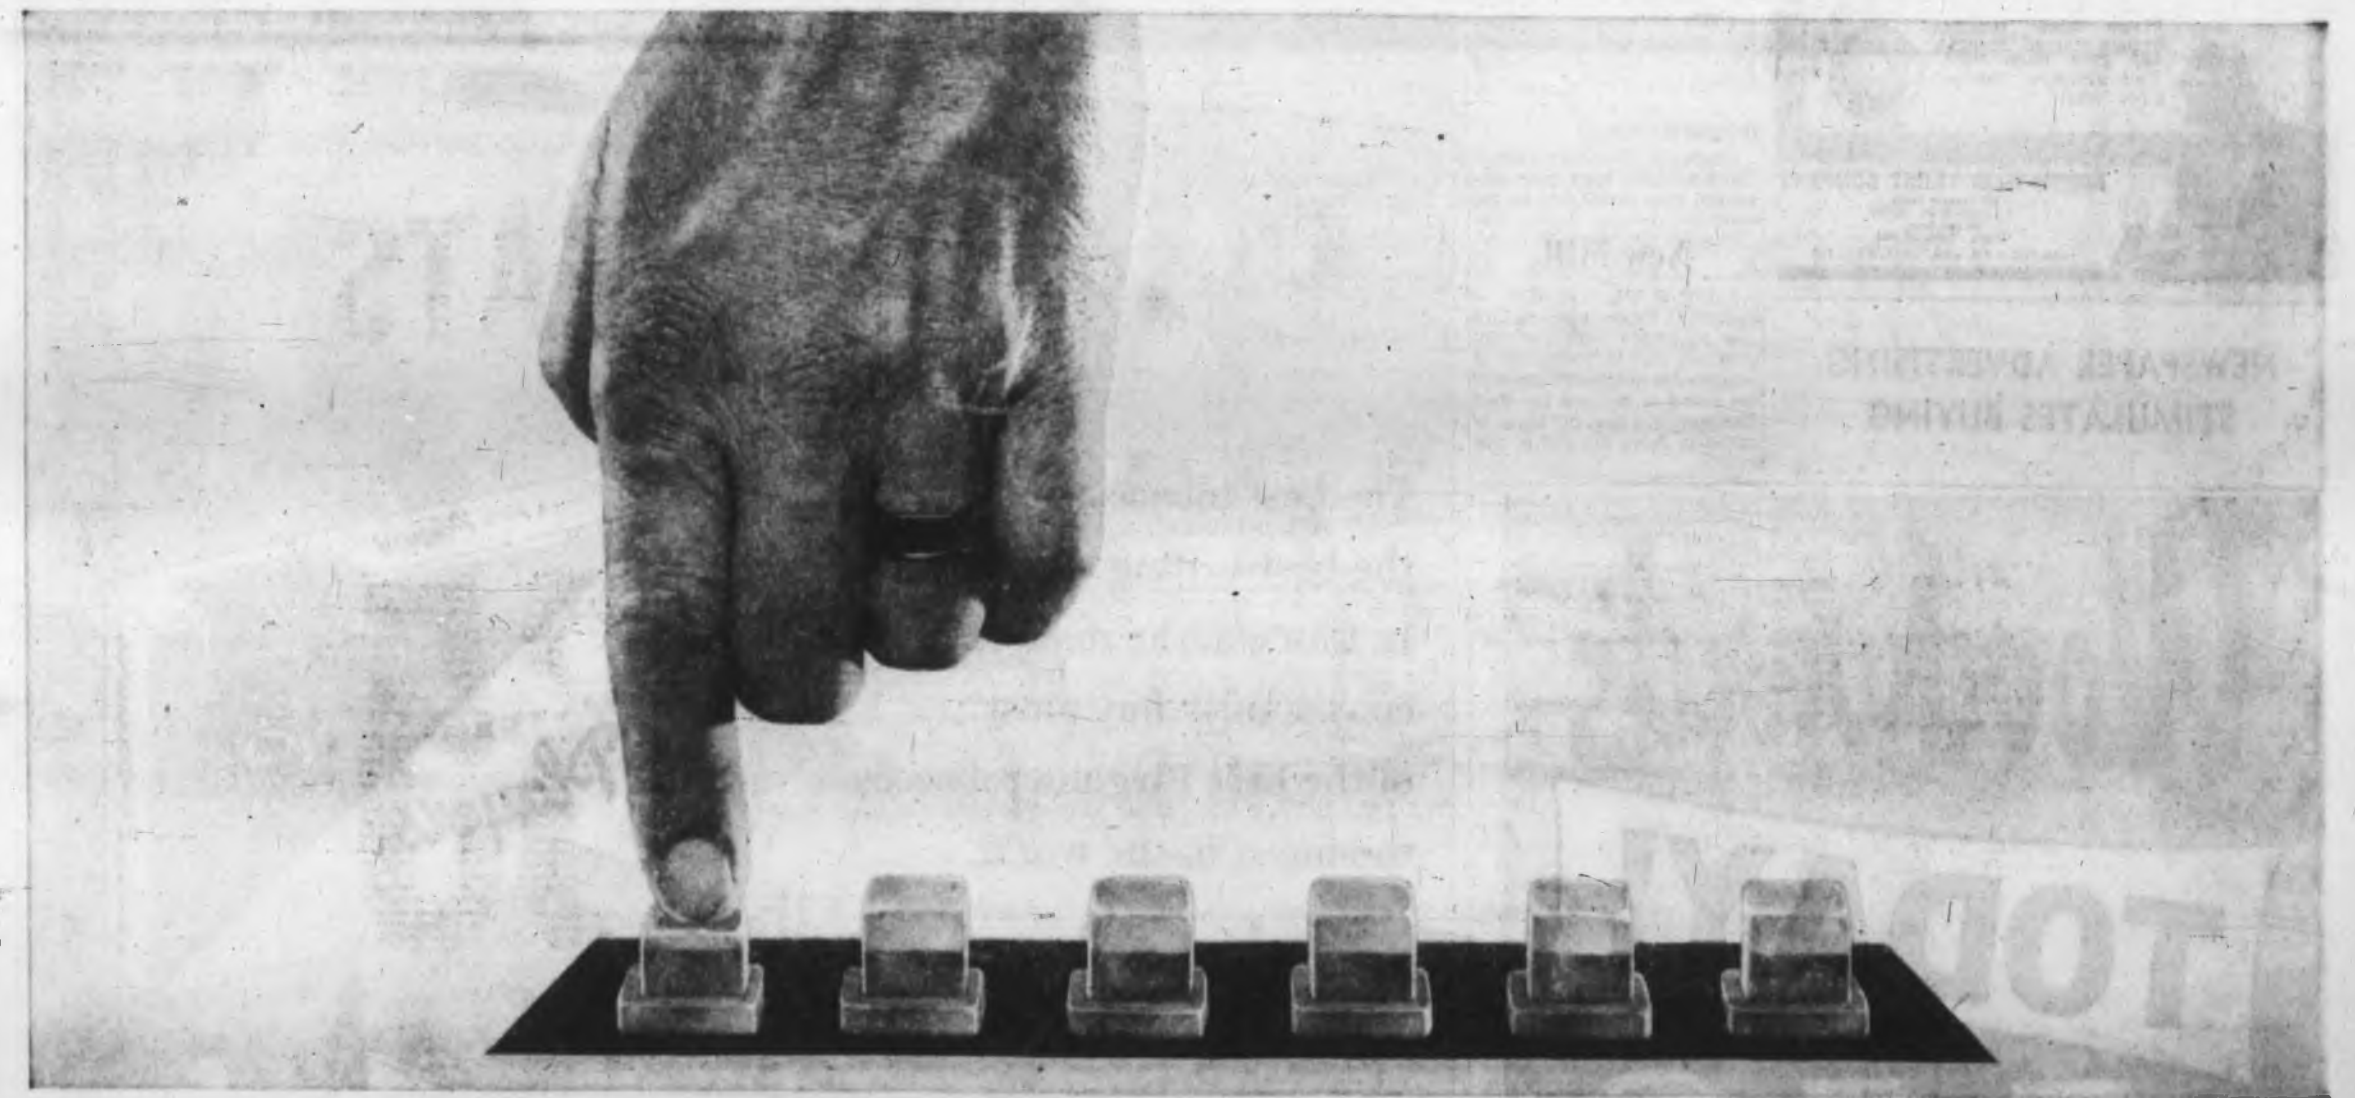

"If Mr. Pearson hadn't been on his toes, he would have found himself unravelling one of Mr. Bennett's scandals. One would have thought the prime minister had enough problems of his own."

Push the profit button

Telephones with pushbuttons on them are one of today's biggest aids to greater business efficiency (and, therefore, to greater profits). They are as convenient as having a miniature switchboard right at your finger tips and can prove a particular boon to expanding office operations.

With the compact six-button telephone, for example, you can receive outside calls on up to four separate lines, hold them and have them transferred. With the 18-button Call Director, you can do all these things several times over.

There is almost no limit to the versatility of these "key systems", as we call them, and they can be adapted for large or small organizations alike. They also cost considerably less than many people imagine.

Why not get the facts on how one or more "key systems" could help your business run more smoothly and economically. We'll gladly give you an estimate on a system tailored to your own special requirements—naturally without any obligation. ## Artists Seek Haven

A hazaar-type shop where spectators can watch artists and craftsmen at work is envisaged by a Victoria group which wants the use of the Board of Trade building in Bastion Square.

The Bastion Village Arts and Craft Society, which is holding an organization meeting at 7:30 p.m. Friday in the public library music room, would turn the historic old building into a haven for artists and would-be artists.

Kenneth Bloomfield, one of the originators of the society, said: "An outlet is needed to help in the development of potential talent. There are outlets for the accomplished artists and craftsmen but no place for the person who wants to try his hand."

Plan is to convert the lower floor into open stalls where artists and craftsmen will be busily engaged while tourists and others walk around, talk to them and inspect their work.

Two floors would probably be turned into private studios where lessons could be given to children and older people.

The spacious top floor could be used for exhibitions, club meetings and dramatic rehearsals, Mr. Bloomfield said.

One of the Victoria groups interested in the Bastion Square plan is the Weavers' Guild. This strong organization will take space if it becomes available.

The society hopes to get the use of the building from the city for a nominal amount but Mr. Bloomfield emphasizes that it is not a subsidized group.

PAY ITS WAY

If the city provides the minimum in amenities, said Mr. Bloomfield, the society will pay its way. However, it will be a cost operation from the society's point of view.

The group is not out to make money.

Friday's meeting will put the finishing touches on the society's founding by approval of a constitution, bylaws, a code of ethics and a brief to be presented to city council.

A board of directors will be chosen.

Three Escape Serious Injury As Car Plunges Into Canyon

NORTH VANCOUVER (CP) — A drive on a quiet sunny afternoon turned into a nightmare for two women and a man Sunday as their car toppled over a 350-foot-high cliff.

The plunging car stopped suddenly 75 feet down when it struck a tree, hurling one of the women into a free fall that ended near the edge of the rushing Capilano River.

It was a miracle none of the three was seriously hurt, said Mr. and Mrs. Les Glover and Judy Chapman, 19.

NARROW ROAD

Miss Chapman said she had just made a turn on a narrow canyon road when the car toppled over the edge and slammed against the only large tree on the face of the cliff.

The impact catapulted Mrs. Glover out of an open door and into a free fall. When she hit the ground she skidded a further 50 feet before she grabbed a log and stopped.

What flashed through Mrs. Chapman's mind as she fell?

"I wondered if my little dog had been hurt — if he was all right," she said in an interview from her hospital bed.

BASKET STRETCHER

Her husband raced to the bottom of the canyon "Tarzan-style" by climbing down tree trunks. RCMP and firemen brought Mrs. Glover out of the canyon in a basket stretcher.

"Another 10 feet," said Mr. Glover, "and she would have hit rocks and her body would have landed in the river."

His Only Aim in '52: Win That Top Seat

Bennett Confesses:

Praise Leaves Him Weak

By IAN STREET
Colonist Legislative Reporter

Premier Bennett confessed in the legislature Monday his one great weakness, and said he is glad that his enemies only found it out at this stage of his political career.

"Criticism I can stand," the premier told the House. "Praise is more difficult to accept. That is my one great weakness."

More Than Words

Mr. Bennett said he appreciated more than words can ever say the tributes paid by Opposition Leader Robert Strachan, Liberal Leader Ray Perrault and Attorney-General Robert Bonner on the occasion of his becoming the longest-serving B.C. premier.

Mr. Strachan said all MLAs were paying tribute to the man and his office.

"The premier is a man of strong opinions," the opposition leader said.

Makes It Work

"Most of us in this House have strong opinions, often differing. But any politician who doesn't have strong opinions isn't worth his salt. It is this clash of opinion that makes our system work."

"We congratulate him on his accomplishment."

"We wish him long life, good health and a full measure of happiness."

Unanimous Vote

The House unanimously approved a resolution recognizing the premier's untiring devotion and service during 4,382 days in office, and extending sincere congratulations on his significant and historic contribution to the people of our beloved province.

The framed, illuminated address was presented to Mr. Bennett.

'It's Not Our Notion Of Senate Reform'

Amid the praise of Premier Bennett's accomplishments in the legislature Monday came the suggestion from opposition leaders that it is now time for him to go to Ottawa as a senator.

Opposition Leader Robert Strachan said he would like to see the premier remain in public life for a long time to come, provided "he extends it to the Senate, and immediately."

Liberal Leader Ray Perrault agreed, adding he would be delighted to phone Ottawa to see what could be done about getting Mr. Bennett a Senate seat.

"We have some notions on Senate reform," said Attorney-General Robert Bonner, "but that is not one of them."

'Pinch Myself'

Mr. Bennett said he found it difficult to speak on this occasion. He had been warned, he said, to "pinch myself as I go along" to prevent breaking down with emotion.

At only one point in the ceremony did the premier lose control for a second or two.

It came as he read a telegram of congratulations from the six surviving daughters of Sir Richard McBride, whose record of 12 years, six months and 15 days in office the premier surpassed Monday.

'Most Fortunate'

"We are the most fortunate people of all the people in B.C.," the premier told MLAs.

"We are more fortunate than all the legislators who have come before us, and those who will follow, because we are part of this period of great change and opportunity in our province."

"I give thanks to the Almighty that I have been part of it."

During the ceremony, Mrs.

Bennett sat in the gallery and his two sons, William and Russell, sat on the floor of the House.

'Quiet Home, Staff'

"There are two things a person in this office must have," Mr. Bennett said. "He must have a quiet home life. And he must have a diligent, quiet staff in the office."

"I am thankful that I have both."

Prayers at the start of Monday's sitting of the House were said by Dr. William McPherson, for many years pastor of the church attended by the Bennett family in Kelowna, and now retired in Victoria.

'What Is Best'

The premier said he would continue to strive "to do in our time what is best" for the people of this province, but in doing so he recognized "a higher power."

The House gave Mr. Bennett a prolonged round of desk-thumping when he entered at 2:30 p.m., and several times interrupted the speeches that followed with more applause.

Bears Repeating

Mr. Perrault said it bears repeating that strong and widely divergent opinions voiced in the legislature are part of the British parliamentary heritage.

This makes it more significant, he said, when partisan differences are dropped to pay tribute to one who has "given so generously of time and effort as the premier of B.C."

'High Pedestal'

The example provided by Mr. Bennett, he said, will assist in restoring "the concept of public service to the high pedestal where it belongs."

Mr. Bonner in turn paid tribute to the "generosity of spirit" displayed by Mr. Strachan and Mr. Perrault.

He said there would be no difficulty recalling that date on which Mr. Bennett became the longest-serving B.C. premier because it was the same day Canada got its national flag.

'Another Omen'

Launching of the latest B.C. government ferry, Queen of Burnaby, at Victoria Machinery Depot an hour before the House sat was "another happy omen" for the future, the attorney-general said.

The opening Monday of the new federal forest laboratory in Saanich was also "a portent" of future development of B.C.

Young Socrads

Two hundred members of the Young Socrads of B.C. sat in the gallery during the ceremony and later had tea with the premier in the parliamentary restaurant.

Premier Bennett and members of his family were guests of Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes at a dinner in Government House Monday night.

By JAMES K. NESBITT

When W. A. C. Bennett, in 1952, was on his first Social Credit campaign, he had no ambition to become the longest-term premier of British Columbia.

He had only vaguely heard of Sir Richard McBride, knew little about him and cared less.

All he wanted then was to knock out Liberals and Conservatives and sit himself down in B.C.'s mightiest seat. That's what he accomplished, as much to his own surprise as to everybody else's.

Lone Wolf

Between 1911, when he was first elected, and 1951, when he kicked over the Coalition shackles, and sounded the death knell of the Coalition government, he was largely a lone wolf, as, indeed he still is.

He took no one into his confidence, except Mrs. Tilly Jean Rolston. He had a facade of personal mystery then, as now.

He believed then, and does yet, that his left hand does not necessarily have to know what his right is up to.

Shocked Chief

He sat quietly enough as a backbencher for a few years. Then he shocked his chief, Conservative leader Pat Maitland, and Liberal Premier John Hart, tied together in Coalition, by suggesting B.C. Liberals and Conservatives go out of business altogether, and that a new Coalition party be born.

Only in this way, he said, would public confidence in the Coalition be retained. Unless this happened, he said, Liberals and Conservatives were doomed.

How right he was!

With Suspicion

Upon hearing this prophecy of gloom, Liberals and Conservatives thereafter looked with suspicion upon their colleague, W. A. C. Bennett. They felt he was out to undermine them, as, indeed, time proved he was.

His great, but hidden ambition to rise to the top first showed definitely in 1946, when Pat Maitland died.

Bennett jumped into the Conservative leadership fight, but Herbert Anscomb won.

This only steeled Bennett's determination to never take defeat but always to fight on and on. He would never give up!

He never has, never will!

In 1951, he crossed the floor, sat as an independent, listened calmly as an infuriated Anscomb called him a traitor.

He ruffled the feathers of Premier Johnson frequently.

Mild-mannered Mr. Johnson grew so furious one day that he almost spat across the floor at Bennett:

"That's just the sort of cheap work we expect from you—it's cheap, and you're cheap, and that's all there is to it."

Bennett sat there with a bland, martyred face, knowing martyrs can often be popular with the voters.

In 1932, as a Social Credit, having said he'd either make it or be washed down the drain, he was elected with 18 other Social Crediters, who soon chose him as their leader.

On Aug. 1, he was sworn in as premier. Of all his new cabinet, only Mrs. Rolston and himself had been in the Legislature before.

If ever there was a bunch of legislative greenhorns it was that first Bennett cabinet.

In his first session as premier, 1951, he courted defeat, dared the opposition to throw him out.

He knew it was hopeless to try and carry on as a minority government.

Sure enough, he was defeated on the floor of the House, which meant an immediate election.

Now seeing the stars within his grasp, and sharpening his spurs for the coming battle, he said in the House:

"I'm an optimist, not a pessimist."

'Welcome Task'

"But even an optimist knows you don't always go straight up—there are always little jobs in the road of business and politics."

"Speaking for this government, and the Social Credit movement, we welcome the task ahead, because we know we are on the side of the right."

We know the rest—victor again in general elections in 1956, 1960 and 1963.

Now Second in Longevity

McBride Was Boy Wonder

By JAMES K. NESBITT

Sir Richard McBride, now second longest-term premier in our history, is remembered as the boy wonder of British Columbia politics.

He was but 27 when first elected to the legislature. At 32, he was premier, and he was dead at 46.

He has left an indelible, fascinating mark on this province.

Handsome Dick he was called, and he could charm the flowers that bloom in the spring, and he most certainly charmed the voters.

No premier, before or since, was ever so treated as the conquering hero. Figuratively, people cast rose petals before him.

He had much of the same vision and imagination as Premier Bennett, but not the money. It is a strange quirk of history and fate and politics that it was he who gave the go-ahead for the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, which Premier Bennett now calls one of the brightest jewels in his government's diadem.

Knighted by King George V in 1912, he was a magnificent, polished courtier, standing out as a most distinguished figure at a ball in Buckingham Palace.

As a politician, he had the ear of Churchill, who, when he came to Victoria in 1923, said his only regret was that his old friend Sir Richard McBride was not here.

Back home from the palace and out on the hustings once more, Dick McBride spoke the language of the frontier. He specified far into the night, and would then dance until sunup in a village crossroads hall.

In cowboy hat, he rode across the ranges, and he and the ranchers would sometimes break open a jug and talk politics in the corral.

There was just no resisting Dick McBride.

First mention of him in the Colonist was in 1892.

"Richard McBride, Esq., son of Ward McBride of New Westminster, who has been studying law with Corbould, McColl and Wilson, is one of the successful candidates for admission to the bar. Mr. McBride was born in the Royal City Dec. 15, 1870, educated at Dalhousie University, New Brunswick, and gives promise in his chosen profession."

Victoria lawyer Brian Smith, in his 1959 thesis on McBride, wrote:

"He was an Edwardian provincial. He echoed the local racial prejudices of his time and the irresistible urge to fight Ottawa for more public funds."

"Time has proven McBride's developmental policies to have been imaginative in conception. The trouble lay in their execution."

"Perhaps he dwelt too much on the future, and was blind to economic difficulties."

"His political persuasiveness and sense of the dramatic have not since been matched in this province. He is still remembered as the most interesting personality in British Columbia politics."

"He had few personal enemies and his popularity with the electorate was immense."

Sir Richard, no doubt, would be pleased to know that it took another premier half a century to beat his record.

9,300 Ride Buses Free

A total of 9,300 people are eligible to ride free on B.C. Hydro buses here and on the Lower Mainland. It was disclosed Monday.

In answer to a question filed in the legislature by Opposition leader Robert Strachan it was learned that in Greater Victoria 167 passes are issued to the CNIB and 66 to war amputations.

The provincial government receives 60 passes including 49 to cabinet ministers and MLAs and one to Lt. Gov. George Pearkes. Mrs. Pearkes also gets a pass in the individual category.

In Greater Victoria 177 policemen and 152 firemen have the right to travel free on buses when in uniform but get no passes.

The majority of passes are held by B.C. Hydro employees but the report gives no breakdown of the total of 5,149 in this category between Vancouver and Victoria.

In all 1,870 non-employees get passes—including 31 connected with PGE—and 1,981 uniformed officers have free-ride privileges, making a total of 3,851 out of 9,300.

Never Doubted He Was Dead

'Widow' Shocked, Frightened At Discovery of Husband

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — It has been more than a week since Mrs. Mary Lou Bader learned that her husband, declared dead several years ago, has been living another life under another name in Omaha.

"I haven't been able to think clearly since then," the attractive, blonde mother of four said in an interview.

"It was a shock to me. . . . It was something unreal, sort of like a numbness."

The copyrighted interview, published Sunday by the Akron Beacon Journal, quoted Mrs. Bader as saying she had never doubted that her husband was dead and knew of no reason why he would voluntarily disappear.

Her first reaction on learning that John F. (Fritz) Johnson, an Omaha sportscaster, was the missing Larry Bader?

"I was very stunned and frightened at first, then decided it couldn't be true."

It was the fingerprints that convinced her that Johnson and Bader were the same man.

Bader disappeared and was presumed drowned in a boating accident on Lake Erie May 15, 1957. Mrs. Bader, now 38, collected $40,000 in insurance.

Four days after the accident, Bader or Johnson turned up in Omaha and started a new life. He insisted he has no recollection of a life as Larry Bader. He is in hospital now undergoing tests.

Mrs. Bader said she is not "shutting the door to a possible reconciliation," but she is prepared to proceed with legal action against Bader if necessary to protect her children.

Bader or Johnson has said he wants to remain with his Omaha wife, Nancy. He and Nancy have two children.

Association Elects Stephenson

L. J. Stephenson of 2815 Shoreline was elected president of the Esquimalt Association, New Democratic Party during the association's annual general meeting Sunday.

Other officers elected were Geoffrey Mitchell, vice-president; Mrs. Madge Siscoe, secretary; J. H. Fowler, Robert Pauwels and Mrs. Dorothy Stranik, executive members.

Elected delegate to the provincial council was Joseph Siscoe.

P. G. ROPCHAN
President

The North West Life Assurance Company was founded in Vancouver, B.C., in 1956. In August, 1961, the Company came under new management and under a new Board of Directors.

In just three years, the total insurance and annuities in force of the North West Life Assurance Company have increased 616 per cent, and the level of new business has improved 500 per cent. In the same period, Company assets have increased 349 per cent.

In the three years since that time, six new branch offices have been opened and two general agencies appointed. Plans are now underway for the expansion of the Company's operations eastward into Ontario and Quebec.

We are extremely grateful to North West Life policyholders and shareholders and to our well-trained corps of administrative and sales personnel for having made the Company's three year growth explosion a reality. We are optimistic that ensuing years will be even more successful. Already in January, 1965, business recorded was up 37 per cent over the same month in 1964.

Prize List Given Boost...

More Cash, Four Events for Tenpin Bonspiel

Increased cash prizes and the addition of a fourth event will feature the second annual Vancouver Island Tenpin Bonspiel, scheduled to be held at Mayfair Lanes on Easter weekend, April 16-19.

Arrangements have now been finalized for the second staging of the novel bowling tournament, which is co-sponsored by The Daily Colonist and Mayfair Lanes, and entry forms will be available at Mayfair Lanes tomorrow.

Patterned after curling's bonspiel format, the competition was a huge success in its inaugural year. It drew an entry of 80 teams and provided tenpinners with a competition which was an instant hit.

This year, with the addition of a fourth event and expectation of a sharply-increased entry, guaranteed cash prizes have been increased to $1,200 from $1,000. In addition, there will be at least $700 worth of merchandise prizes at stake.

Addition of a fourth event assures that each team must be beaten twice to be out of the competition before reaching the semi-finals.

All teams enter the Daily Colonist event with first-round losers forming the draw for the Mayfair event. Second-round losers in the Daily Colonist event and first-round losers from the Mayfair event compete in the Gar's Trophies event. Teams which lose after second-round play in the Daily Colonist event will play in the Colonist Printer's event.

The date on which averages will be based.

In the case of bowlers playing in more than one league, their highest average as of March 7 will apply.

Teams will receive handicaps on the basis of 70 per cent of the difference between the combined team average and the team scratch figure of 800.

For the 16th Season

Howe Hits 20 Again

Detroit Red Wings' Gordie Howe extended his National Hockey League record of consecutive 20-goal seasons to 16 Sunday night, scoring twice in a 6-2 win over New York Rangers.

Howe, playing his 19th NHL season, broke in with seasons of seven, 16 and 12 goals, but hasn't dipped below 23 in any one season since. Included in turned to action Sunday following a four-game absence because of a leg injury. He failed to gain a point as Chicago battled back twice to tie Montreal Canadiens, 2-2.

Defenceman Pierre Pilote's 15-foot screened shot in the second period gave Hawks the tie.

In the league's other game, Boston Bruins scored two goals in less than three minutes early in the third period to earn a 2-2 tie with Toronto Maple Leafs and move to within eight points of the fifth-place Rangers.

Detroit's victory moved the Wings to within two points of second-place Toronto and Montreal and six behind leading Chicago.

Wings, who have played two games less than Toronto and one less than Montreal, face Canadians in Montreal tomorrow night.

losers forming the draw for the Mayfair event. Second-round losers in the Daily Colonist event and first-round losers from the Mayfair event compete in the Gar's Trophies event. Teams which lose after second-round play in the Daily Colonist event will play in the Colonist Printer's event.

his span were five years he led the league in goals, with 49 in 1952-53 his best effort. He is the NHL's all-time leading goal-scorer with 587.

His first goal Sunday came on a first period Detroit power play and his second, which just about killed any New York comeback hopes, was scored with a teammate in the penalty box.

It was the second such goal within 58-seconds for Wings, who had Ron Murphy serving a penalty. Floyd Smith scored the first, giving Wings a 4-2 lead.

STANDS FOURTH

Howe's two goals and an assist moved him into a fourth-place tie with Chicago's Phil Esposito in the individual scoring race, each with 48 points, 19 behind leader Bobby Hull of Chicago.

Hull, who had his lead pared to a single point Saturday night by team-mate Stan Mikita, returned to action Sunday following a four-game absence because of a leg injury. He failed to gain a point as Chicago battled back twice to tie Montreal Canadiens, 2-2.

Defenceman Pierre Pilote's 15-foot screened shot in the second period gave Hawks the tie.

In the league's other game, Boston Bruins scored two goals in less than three minutes early in the third period to earn a 2-2 tie with Toronto Maple Leafs and move to within eight points of the fifth-place Rangers.

Detroit's victory moved the Wings to within two points of second-place Toronto and Montreal and six behind leading Chicago.

Wings, who have played two games less than Toronto and one less than Montreal, face Canadians in Montreal tomorrow night.

Moonie Trial Opened

Gary Allan Moonie, 21, watched quietly from the prisoner's box as his Supreme Court trial for non-capital murder opened Monday in Victoria.

The government survey ship seaman is charged with killing his father in the family home in Saanich last Nov. 28.

Five Saanich policemen gave evidence in a trial-within-a-trial before Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson.

The jury was excluded during testimony by Det.-Sgt. Robin Stewart, Det. Norman Baker.

Sgt. Robert Coleman, Const. J. M. Post and Const. James White, all of whom attended at the home of the accused, 370 Harland Road, in the early hours of Nov. 28.

First officers on the scene found Allan A. Moonie, 41, head barmen in a Victoria hotel, lying wounded on the kitchen floor. He was rushed to Royal Jubilee Hospital where he died two days later.

CHARGE CHANGED

An inquest jury was told death was caused by complications following massive injury caused when a .303 bullet smashed through his hip joint and lower arm.

A charge of attempted murder against the dead man's son was changed to a non-capital murder charge.

Accused by three police officers, Gary Moonie attended a service for his father at a funeral home.

As the trial opened, crown counsel William McIntyre told the jury the crown intended to show Allan Moonie was shot after a family argument.

The crown's case would be that the accused got up from his bed, put one round into a rifle, saw his father and fired at him at short range, Mr. McIntyre said.

The slim, blond accused conferred frequently with John McGivern, who is assisting his father Hugh McGivern of Vancouver for the defence.

RIFLE EXAMINED

C. O. D. Branson is assisting Mrs. McIntyre.

Among the witnesses in the closed portion of the trial was Gail Moonie, 14-year-old sister of the prisoner.

When the jury was present, Det. Insp. Percy Easter of Vancouver crime detection laboratory said he examined a .303 rifle and a spent cartridge case, received from Saanich police.

After tests he concluded the case was fired by the same rifle. This morning the court will rule on admissibility of certain evidence from police officers.

Seat Belts In Back, Too

DETROIT (UPI) — General Motors Corp. has made in unanimous in announcing that it would join other U.S. auto manufacturers in installing rear seat belts in its 1966 model cars as standard equipment.

The Ford Motor Co., Chrysler Corp. and American Motors Corp. announced last week they would make rear seat belts available as standard equipment on all new cars starting with 1966 models.

Front seat belts have been standard equipment in all U.S. autos since Jan. 1, 1964.

Centennial Plans Under Discussion

Representatives of the National Centennial Commission will meet today at the Empress Hotel with British Columbia planners for the 1967 centenary of Confederation.

Closed talks will continue Wednesday.

DELEGATES

Representing the national planners are Commissioner John Fisher, Assistant Commissioner George Gauthier, Ernest Cote and Philip Davis, all of Ottawa; Fred McGuinness, of Medicine Hat, and Mrs. Marianne Lunell, of Vancouver.

Deputy Provincial Secretary L. J. Wallace, chairman of the Canadian Confederation Centennial Committee of British Columbia, will head the B.C. delegation.

The Ottawa group will see plans for B.C.'s provincial project.

Worry of FALSE TEETH Slipping or Irritating?

Don't be embarrassed by loose false teeth slipping, dropping or wobbling when you smile, talk or laugh. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH on your plates. This pleasant powder gives a remarkable sense of added comfort and security by holding plates more firmly. No gummy, sticky, heavy taste or feeling. It's alkaline (non-acid). ## Auld Lang Syne for Ensign

Minimum Ceremony As Maple Leaf Flies

By DON GAIN
Colonist Military Reporter

Under leaden skies Monday the new Canadian flag replaced the red, the white and the blue ensign at Greater-Victoria army, navy and RCAF establishments.

A chill wind and threat of rain kept spectators to a minimum but kept flags billowing through the ceremonies.

Greater Victoria and Sooke schools continue to fly the red ensign because their new flags have not arrived. A B.C. government spokesman said the manufacturer was unable to deliver them for another 30 days. In Saanich school district, where a citizens' committee purchased new flags, the new flag was flown from schools.

New flags were hoisted at city hall in front of the main entrance and in Centennial Square with the least possible ceremony.

Acting Mayor Cecil Parrott and assistant city engineer William Jorgensen walked out to the Pandora Avenue flagpole at noon, lowered the Red Ensign and hoisted the maple leaf standard in its place.

Ald. Millard Moore helped fold the ensign and it was brought inside for storage.

lowered and replaced by one maple leaf flag.

Capt. W. P. Hayes, commandant of the Canadian Services College, read the Queen's proclamation. The cadet band provided music.

At the Bay Street armory a 30-man guard of honor represented the militia in the raising of the new flag. In charge of the guard was Major Thomas Dalzell, commanding officer, 5th (B.C.) Inf. Med. Battery, RCA.

The battery did not fire a 21-gun salute and there was no sounding of the Last Post.

About 20 spectators turned out and traffic slowed on Bay Street as the ceremony progressed.

"It's human nature to cling to the old ways," one spectator said, "but I think the criticism will go by the boards as we get used to the new flag."

The navy's utility squadron VU-33 at Patricia Bay ran down the white ensign and replaced it with the new flag at ceremonial divisions at noon.

Their white ensigns will be laid up in Holy Trinity Anglican Church at Patricia Bay and St. Elizabeth's Roman Catholic Church, Sidney, in special ceremonies Sunday.

The red ensign from Work Point will be placed in St. Paul's Naval and Garrison Church, Esquimalt, in the near future for safe-keeping.

At least one Victoria school had the new flag flying yesterday. It was Holy Angels, a private school at 866 North Park. The school installed its first flag pole for the noon ceremony.

Four Present

At the same time Ald. Geoffrey Edgell assisted city employees in replacing the two ensigns in Centennial Square with new flags.

The maple leaf flag was raised at the legislative buildings at 7:21 a.m. with only four persons present — the custodian, a commissioner, one reporter and one photographer.

At Work Point the bugles of the 1st Battalion, Queen's Own Rifles of Canada, played Old Hundred while the red ensign was lowered.

Marched Off

While a few dozen spectators shivered in the cold wind the flag was marched off the parade square and the bugles played Auld Lang Syne.

As the new flag was marched on they played The Maple Leaf Forever.

A baby cried in the distance. "Now we have our own flag," said a woman spectator. "It belongs to Canada and nobody else."

Made History

Lt.-Col. Douglas Nelson, recently retired as operations officer of 25 Militia Group, said he was present as an old gunner.

"The gunners and engineers made a lot of history at Work Point," he said.

"The red ensign brings back mixed feelings," he added, "but we'll stand behind the new flag as solidly as we did the old one."

'Wonderful'

"I'm English and I fought under the red ensign," said a man standing nearby, "but I'm glad we have a flag of our own."

He said he has a son who is a sergeant in the QOR.

"I think it's wonderful," a woman said, "I think it's very appropriate."

Rallying Emblem

The new flag will be the rallying emblem of our people, said Capt. J. A. McDonald, RC padre, explaining that the red ensign was used only until we had a flag of our own.

At HMCS Naden moisture filled the eyes of one big and beribboned chief petty officer. He said it was the cold wind.

It was a cold wind that came across the Strait of Juan de Fuca and swept the parade ground of the naval barracks where nearly 1,000 sailors were assembled.

Guard of Honor

They included officers and men of Naden, representative groups from Pacific Command ships and establishments and HMCS Naden band. A 100-man guard of honor was in position in front of the dais.

About 150 wives and children watched the ceremony.

Slow Descent

He read the Queen's proclamation authorizing the flying of the new Canadian flag.

The band played God Save the Queen and the white ensign, which had been fluttering high above the parade ground, started its slow descent. Simultaneously the new flag was slowly hoisted.

As the two flags passed at the halfway mark the band played O Canada. The anthem ended when the new flag reached the top of its staff.

From nearby Black Rock came the sound of a 21-gun salute.

Brief Prayers

Naval chaplains read brief prayers. Admiral Stirling said, in a prepared address, that "we will honor our new ensign as we did our former one."

Slow-marching color parties marched off the white ensign and blue ensign as the band played Auld Lang Syne. The ceremony concluded with a march-past by all who participated.

At Royal Roads, 200 officers, cadets and about 200 guests watched as the navy's white ensign, the army's red ensign and the RCAF's blue ensign were put up for bid.

Citizens Buy Flags For Saanich Schools

The only schools in Greater Victoria with new maple leaf flags Monday were those in Saanich.

The department of education had issued a directive for schools to continue flying the red ensign until the new flags arrive.

But a group of citizens in Saanich dug into their own pockets to purchase new flags, which were handed over to the school board Monday.

Seventeen Red Ensigns were hailed down at schools throughout Saanich during the day and replaced with maple leaves, but no ceremonies were held to mark the occasion.

The new flags will mean more to children now in school than they will to anyone else, said one of the volunteers who helped supply the flags.

In the legislature Monday, Alex Macdonald (NDP-Vancouver East) rapped the government for not putting on "some little ceremony" in B.C. marking the raising of Canada's new flag.

"It's not so much what we think," he said in the legislature. "It is rather what the children think who come after us."

Canadians don't exhibit enough pride in their country, said Mr. Macdonald, and if the new flag will help the younger generation correct this lack "then I'm all for it."

Centennial Suggestion

Reeve Curtis Attacked Over His 'Pet Project'

Suggestions by Saanich Reeve Hugh Curtis of an athletic stadium as a joint centennial project for Greater Victoria, were raped by Oak Bay and Esquimalt councils Monday night.

Letters were received from Reeve Curtis who suggested a committee be formed by members of the three municipal councils and Victoria city council.

The committee would work with the Greater Victoria Inter-municipal Canadian Centennial Committee to investigate the stadium proposal.

Coun. Gerald Horne of Esquimalt was critical of the way the proposal had appeared in the newspapers and charged Reeve Curtis with "a little campaigning on the side."

Esquimalt Reeve A. C. Wurtz, on learning of the Saanich proposal, said: "We think development of the Gorge is much more important."

Coun. Walter Dodsworth, an Oak Bay representative on the joint centennial committee, commented:

"I probably shouldn't say this, but I think the dispute has arisen because one municipality doesn't want to pollute the Gorge, and the other is trying to do it."

Reeve Curtis, in his letter to Oak Bay council, proposed "a committee of representatives from Victoria, Oak Bay, Saanich and Esquimalt be struck to work with the Greater Victoria Inter-municipal - Canadian Centennial Committee in order that we might investigate the matter in some detail."

To this suggestion Coun. Dodsworth replied: "We already have a committee, each municipality has two representatives on it."

Said Reeve Cox: "It takes quite awhile for news to get out to Saanich."

FET PROJECT

He told Oak Bay council:

"I am concerned about what Saanich has done. When the joint committee was formed we wanted to make sure councils did not get fixed ideas on pet projects. If they did, they would never agree."

Coun. Dodsworth said the centennial committee has made no recommendation or decision on a project, because all ideas are not yet in.

Oak Bay council will write to the Saanich reeve pointing out a committee is already in existence, and its function is to consider a joint project.

SPORTS CENTRE

In Esquimalt acting Reeve James Bryant said the subject of a sports centre as the combined project had already been suggested two or three times to the centennial committee.

He said the project should be given to the centennial committee instead of canvassing councils.

A suggestion that Reeve Curtis' letter was out of order was made by Coun. E. L. De Costa. He moved that a letter be sent to Reeve Curtis pointing out the project should be directed to the present committee.

Closed Streets Urged For Playhouse Parking

Closing off several of the side streets near the McPherson Playhouse and using them as parking lots was suggested Monday as a solution for possible parking problems during the opening week of McPherson Playhouse.

In a letter to city aldermen, Mrs. Margaret West recalled that during the Christmas season the T. Eaton Co. was granted permission to close off a city block on Broad.

Forestry Milestone

Laboratory Splendid Example Of B.C.-Ottawa Co-Operation

A milestone in federal-provincial co-operation was established Monday with the official opening of the federal government's new forest research laboratory here.

Representatives of both governments and private industry praised the new lab at Burnside and the Trans-Canada Highway as a step toward greater and closer relationships.

SPLENDID EXAMPLE

"This laboratory and the results that will be achieved by those who labor therein is a splendid example of federal-provincial co-operation," Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes told the 250 guests before cutting the ribbon to officially open the building.

Lt. Gov. Pearkes echoed the remarks of provincial forestry minister R. G. Williston who had to dash back to the Legislature for the ceremony commemorating Premier Bennett's term in office.

58 PER CENT

The lieutenant-governor told the gathering that 58 per cent of the province's total area bears, or is capable of bearing, commercially-valuable forests.

He said forest industries are the mainstay of B.C. economy and require a large force of skilled and unskilled labor to harvest, process and ship the product of these forests.

PRESERVATION

"To assist in the preservation and full utilization of this immensely valuable natural resource this laboratory has been established," the lieutenant-governor pointed out.

Later, W. D. Moore, president of the B.C. Truck Loggers' Association and owner of a logging company at Winter Harbor on Vancouver Island, said the future of forestry in B.C. will involve complete utilization of wood.

And the value of the new $2,500,000 research lab lies in finding greater utilization as well as protecting the raw material.

Mr. Moore explained:

As an example of the new co-operation, Mr. Moore cited research into "sinkers" or water-soaked trees which sink and can't be towed to mills.

STUDYING PROBLEM

The various agencies concerned are studying ways and means of overcoming the problem which results in the loss of thousands of board feet of timber each year.

Dr. L. Z. Rousseau, deputy minister of the federal forestry department, explained that his department acts in an advisory capacity only to ensure greater utilization of timber stands in working with provincial and industrial representatives.

ADVISORS

"We're advisors, not operators," he said. The bilingual deputy, who has worked under four forestry ministers in 12 months, said recent reorganization of the department provides more freedom for its regional researchers to work on their own in conjunction with other foresters.

Guests attending the opening toured the three-storey structure following the ceremonies. The public is invited to visit the premises between 7 and 9 p.m. today and Wednesday.

Legislative Precinct

Parking Plan Wins Support

By A. H. MURPHY

A plan to solve the long-standing legislative precinct parking problem for the next 25 years was unanimously supported Monday at a provincial-municipal meeting at city hall.

The plan, which goes to city council for ratification before being sent to the provincial government for approval, envisages six one-acre parking lots in the precinct.

These lots would be used for flat parking at the moment and to accommodate the cars which will be turned out of their parking area when the new provincial museum is built.

IMMEDIATE NEEDS

Later they will be used as sites for parking buildings, each of which will accommodate 500 cars.

Such a plan provides for immediate needs and for an increase of about 1,000 cars which is expected in the next 25 years.

REASONABLE CHANCE

The plan was part of a report outlined by engineers and planners from both the city and the province.

Deputy minister of public works, Arnold Webb, and deputy minister of municipal affairs, J. E. Brown, both of whom were present at the meeting Monday, said they thought the plan had a "reasonable chance of acceptance" by the provincial government.

Green-Mawdsley Vows Exchanged

The revised United Church wedding ceremony was performed for the first time in Metropolitan United Church recently when Rev. Albert E. King heard marriage vows exchanged between Zenith Mawdsley and Ivy John Green.

The bride is the youngest daughter of Mrs. Ian Mawdsley, 1023 Davis Street, and the late Mr. Mawdsley. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ivan E. Green, 528 Del Monte Avenue.

Cut flowers flanked by white candles and arranged by the groom's mother and Mrs. M. Wells decorated the church for the ceremony.

As the bride entered the church on the arm of her brother, Wilton Mawdsley, the congregation sang "Praise My Soul the King of Heaven." During the service, Mrs. George Essihos sang the "Lord's Prayer" and "The Wedding Prayer."

The bride wore a floor-length gown of white peau de soie enhanced with lace appliques. Her waist-length veil was highlighted with a border of lace and she carried a bouquet of pink roses, white daisies and ivy.

Identical gowns of chiffon over taffeta in tones of pink and blue were the choice of maid of honor, Miss Iona Mawdsley, bridesmaid, Miss Helen Green, sisters of the principals, and bridesmaid Mrs. Paul Wade. They complemented their gowns with matching chapel-length veils.

Fred Green was best man for his brother, and the guests were ushered by Jack Mathers, Norman Spencer and Robert Thompson.

As the newlyweds left the church, the bells were chimed by the groom's father.

Charles Ellington was master of ceremonies at a reception that followed in Holyrood House.

A three-tier wedding cake made by Mrs. Pickering, the bride's aunt, centred the head table. It was flanked by pink roses and white candles. Background music was provided by Mr. and Mrs. Essihos.

Leaving on a honeymoon trip to California, the bride donned a brown silk dress with matching accessories and toning braided straw turban hat. Her white wool topcoat featured a brown Kalinsky fur neckline and she carried a sprig of yellow roses.

On return, the newlyweds will make their home in Victoria.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Stephenson, 1213 Pearce Crescent, announce the forthcoming marriage of their eldest daughter, Lynda Grace, to Mr. James Watson Sivertson, only son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Sivertson, Campbell River. The wedding will take place at 7:30 p.m., Saturday, Feb. 27, in St. Luke's Anglican Church.—(Kandid Kamera)

Unusual

MONTREAL (CP)—A Montreal woman has grown an unusual gladiolus in her back yard. Emily Szeserbiński said the plant had two branches and flowered from a single-rooted stem. Botanical experts said similar growth is sometimes seen in tulips.

WI Sponsors Poem Contest

OTTAWA (CP)—The Federated Women's Institutes of Canada are sponsoring a competition among their 72,000 members for a centennial poem.

The competition, for a poem about any phase of Canada's 100 years since Confederation, is one section of the federation's triennial Lady Tweedsmuir competition.

Two other competitions are open for the best village history and for the best sample of drawn thread work, one of the oldest forms of embroidery.

Two entries in each section of the competition are submitted from each province. The winners are to be announced in 1967.

Bridal Shower For Ivy Mancor

A miscellaneous shower was held for Miss Ivy Mancor by Miss Bonnie Cassels at her home, 1196 Highrock Ave. Gifts were arranged in a decorated laundry basket.

Guests included the bride's mother Mrs. Claude Mancor, the bride's grandmother Mrs. Rubenoff, the groom's sister Cec Bowen.

Other guests were Misses

Cheryl Mancor, Betty Kinnear, Marg Norris, Penny Putt, Karen Bamford, Sheila Connorton, Midge Webb, Pat Parsons and Alice Cronk. The "Mrs. Barb Sallis, Mrs. F. Sallis, Mrs. Joan Thompson, Mrs. Pat Lloyd, Mrs. Lila McCreadie, Mrs. Lenora Page, Mrs. Ruth Putt and Mrs. Jean Cassels.

A buffet luncheon was served after the gifts were opened.

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: A woman in our office is as sweet as honey on the surface but the minute a back is turned she does her dirty work.

She exaggerates details until an ordinary incident becomes a juicy morsel of gossip. Last week I had a birthday. This woman came by my desk with a gift. I was so stunned I could do nothing but thank her. After a few moments I regained my composure and returned the gift — unopened. I told her I could not accept it.

She asked why and I said, "A gift should be given to a friend BY a friend." She replied, "But I AM your friend." I told her I didn't think of her that way.

Now I'm afraid I was a little rude. What do you think? — UNDECIDED.

Dear Undecided: You were not rude. You were cruel. What a heartless thing to do!

If you were victimized by this woman's sharp tongue why didn't you tell her off at the time? This is the way to let people know you don't want their friendship.

Obviously the woman didn't know how you felt about her or she would not have bought you a gift. I don't know her and I don't know you, but based on your letter, I'll take HER.

Dear Ann Landers: We have four children. The oldest is 10 years old, the youngest is 14 months. Five months ago my wife took a part-time job to earn extra money which we didn't need. She left the children first with one neighbor then another — without pay. After a while the neighbors resented it and refused to keep the children.

Last month my wife took a full-time job and hired a sloppy, lazy woman who is nothing more than two arms and two legs. When I get home at night I must start supper and straighten the house. My wife sails in at 6:30 p.m., eats, leaves the dishes and then goes off to an art class, a PTA meeting, a church study class or to a lecture. She expects me to be satisfied because she has a good figure and has given me four children. I need your help. — STEADY READER.

Dear Steady: First, keep your home together—for four very good reasons.

Second, YOU hire a competent housekeeper.

Third, see your clergyman about some joint-counseling. A woman who goes to PTA and church meetings and to lectures can't be all bad.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 13-year-old boy. I am glad my parents love me enough to yell at me when I do something wrong. I used to think they were just mean, but I know better now. Good parents are supposed to make rules and see to it that their kids follow them.

I have a friend whose parents let him do anything he wants to do and honestly, Ann Landers, the kid is a mess. He is always in trouble.

Last night a girl called me on the phone and asked me to be her date at a party. I asked my mother and she said, "The answer is NO and that goes for the next three years."

I was glad she said that. Now I don't have to think about dates for a long time. Please print my letter for kids who may not know that strict parents are the best kind — SMARTER NOW.

Dear Smarter: There's an old saying, "If youth but knew what age could tell." Age can learn a few things from Youth too—and you've proved it again.

Just like nothing on your feet! Ask the gal who wears a pair — of course, from

Jubilee Students Get Caps

Thirty-six students at the Royal Jubilee Hospital's school of nursing received their caps in a colorful ceremony Friday afternoon. The ceremony marked the completion of the students' first six months of training.

George Masters, hospital administrator, greeted the guests in the lounge of the nurses' residence. Miss Muriel E. Thompson, director of nursing, spoke to the class and presented them with the caps.

Canon R. K. Sampson presented the students with New Testaments, gift of the ladies' auxiliary of the Gideon Society.

The students also received miniature Florence Nightingale lamps, gifts of the women's auxiliary to the Royal Jubilee Hospital. During the afternoon, guests were entertained with a selection of songs by the student nurses' choir.

Miss Diane Crichton received the Royal Jubilee Hospital Alumnae Association's award for pre-clinical achievement. The student came directly from Germany to enter the school. Her father, Sgt. A. C. Crichton, is stationed with the Royal Canadian Air Force in the European country.

Others include Marcia Bell, Chilliwaik, Mary Cameron, Ashcroft, B.C.; Joyce Cavin, Funny Bay; Penelope Covert, West Vancouver; Cheryl Dakin, Elizabeth Harold and Ruth McCague, all of Vancouver; Roberta Delbrouck, Saanichton; Wilma Rubien, Sooke.

Education is Key To Full Success

"If Canadians are to develop an ideal society and play a full role in world affairs, then no time must be lost in enabling people to reach their full potential through the educational system," Dr. Malcolm G. Taylor said when he addressed the Business and Professional Women following the International Night banquet at the Empress on Saturday.

At present one out of three Canadians don't go past Grade 8 and the National Employment Service says that men with no more than this grade are ineligible for 70 per cent of the jobs.

It is obvious, said Dr. Taylor that there has been failure in developing this natural resource of people.

This is the Age of Education and we must face this fact Dr. Taylor pointed out.

To demonstrate the magnitude of the task ahead, Dr. Taylor pointed out that in the 60's, Canada must provide facilities for three times as many university students in 1970 as in 1960. This means facilities for higher education must be provided for twice as many as accumulated in our whole previous history.

One of the major reasons of the failure to develop our human resources is the cost. But, as Dr. Taylor pointed out, is the cost of failure not greater than the cost in money?

The costs of ignorance are inescapable. Against such costs the price of education is seen to be pitifully small.

Miss E. Clement introduced the guest speaker and he was thanked by Mrs. Sallie Hamill.

His Honor the Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. Pearkes were honor guests at the banquet. Also seated at the head table were ADC Wing Cmdr. and Mrs. C. C. Macgibbon, Miss Ella Brett, Mr. R. Baird, representing Mayor R. B. Wilson, and Mrs. Baird, Reeve and Mrs. Allan Hamill.

Announce New Healing Substance...
Shrinks Piles, Checks Itch
Exclusive healing substance proven to shrink hemorrhoids... and repair damaged tissue.

A renowned research institute has found a unique healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids painlessly. It relieves itching and discomfort in minutes and speeds up healing of the injured, inflamed tissues.
One hemorrhoidal case history after another reported "very striking improvement." Pain was promptly and gently relieved... actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.
Among these case histories were a variety of hemorrhoidal conditions. Relief even occurred in cases of long standing, and most important of all, results were so thorough that this improvement was maintained over a period of many months.
This was accomplished with a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) which quickly helps heal injured cells and stimulates growth of new tissue. Bio-Dyne is offered in ointment and suppository form called Preparation H.
In addition to actually shrinking hemorrhoids, Preparation H lubricates and makes elimination less painful. It helps prevent infection which is a principal cause of hemorrhoids.
Just ask your druggist for Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment (with a special applicator).
Satisfaction guaranteed or your money refunded.

Garden Notes

By M. V. CHESTNUT, FRHS

I got a real bang out of a TV program a week or so ago. It was one of these family situation comedies in which father, after being shocked into an economy binge by his tax bill, decides to save money by washing his own car henceforth. So off he goes to the hardware store to pick up a few carwashing implements and supplies.

Once in the store, he gets bitten by the gadget bug and winds up spending enough money on fancy brushes, sponges, polishers, detergents and waxes to finance a weekly professional car wash for at least two years!

Some of these tools and implements are absolutely essential, of course. You must have some kind of spade or shovel, for instance, if you are to do any kind of gardening at all.

Others are luxury items, nice to own if you can afford them, but you can get along without them at a pinch. For example, it is quite possible to improvise substitutes for a five-prong cultivator or a fertilizer spreader.

For the guidance of the newcomer to gardening, I propose to devote my next few columns to separating the wheat from the chaff, so to speak, in this matter of stocking up on garden tools.

In our family, we have had a lot of experience in improvising—making one tool do the work of three—for while I am sorely tempted every time a glittering new gadget appears on the counter, the Chestnut bank account suffers from a state of chronic anemia, and usually we have to devise make-do techniques.

Let us take up first the matter of the spade, for this is the basic garden implement. For many years, all through my early days of gardening, I relied upon the conventional short-handled spade—the kind with a D-handle and a square, flat blade.

A sheer accident showed me the error of my ways, and today I wouldn't touch such a spade with a ten-foot pole—I rely for all my digging on a long-handled, pointed-nose shovel.

It happened this way: Back in the days when ditches were dug by hand, a public works crew was working on a water main on our street. Evidently one of the workmen forgot his tools for when they finished, they left behind an enormous long-handled shovel propped up against our front fence.

Wondering how anyone could possibly get through a day's work with such a heavy and awkward-looking implement, I snaffled on to it and gave it a tryout through sheer curiosity. Since that day I have never laid a finger on a short-handled spade.

It is almost unbelievable how much easier the work goes with one of these long-handled shovels than with a short spade. There is far less bending, stooping and lifting, and you work for the greater part of the time with a straight back, while with the spade you are bent over all the time except for rest periods.

The public works model I first tested is admittedly too large and too heavy for home garden work, but there are plenty of clean-lined, pointed-nose, lightweight shovels in the garden shops and hardware stores nowadays.

In our family we have two of them, for I bought what is called a lady's model in the wistful but unfulfilled hope of getting some help with the digging.

This little fellow—still with a long handle and pointed nose—is invaluable for lifting and transplanting plants too big for the garden trowel.

Doctor Calms Rash Patient

I went to the doctor the other morning for a little skin rash. My wife took me to her dermatologist. She's allergic to her wrist watch. I think it's mostly her nerves.

In the waiting room I picked up a magazine. I can't stand to look at other patients in a doctor's office. They always look sick.

It was some kind of a children's magazine. I put it back on the table and shuffled through the others. They were all children's magazines.

"What is this doctor," I whispered to my wife, "a pediatrician?"

"He treats all ages," she whispered. "You're just sitting by the children's table."

I picked up a magazine and thumbed through it. One has to do something. I found a page called "for wee folk." It was all about the time it takes to do everyday chores.

"Which takes longer to do? To get up in the morning and get ready for breakfast, or to get ready for bed?"

I don't know about wee folk, but for me it takes longer to get up in the morning and get ready for breakfast.

They weren't all that easy. There was a riddle further on that stopped me. What word begins with the last letter of the alphabet and ends with the first?

I couldn't think of one. I asked my wife.

"Zebra," she said.

"Oh, I was trying to think of something harder," I explained.

There were a couple of good jokes. "Did you hear about the dog that went to the flea circus? No. What happened? He stole the show."

There was a little poem full of imagery by a boy of nine.

"I like to watch the waves 'Rush around the shore; 'The waves hit the rocks 'And break into pieces of raindrops."

"There was a full page of music from 'Theme from Trio in G Minor' by Clara Wiebe Schumann. I was trying to burn this under my breath when the nurse called me.

While the doctor was examining my rash I decided to see how smart he was.

"What's a word that begins with the last letter of the alphabet and ends with the first?" I asked him.

He kept on studying my rash. "Zenana," he said.

"Zenana?"

"Yes. It's a Hindu word, meaning harem, or seraglio."

He said my rash was mostly nerves.

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—It was a joyful reunion with Van Johnson and his 17-year-old daughter Schuyler, when Van was in Hollywood recently. There had been no communication on Schuyler's part for several years—three, to be exact, "but all I did was call her on the phone and ask her to lunch with me, and she accepted," Van told me, adding, "there was no embarrassment. It was as though we had never been estranged." They spent the rest of the day together.

With the divorce and child support problems behind her, Anne Francis is going full steam ahead with the career. In her TV series, Honey West, for Four Star, the blonde, glamorous actress plays an elegant lady detective complete with white sports car and handsome male friends. If James Bond can have all these beautiful blondes, why not vice versa? ... Anne is currently starring in Brainstorm with Jeff Hunter and Dana Andrews. You will see her soon in The Satan Bug playing Andrew's daughter. In Brainstorm she's his wife ...

Encore Paris, a documentary on the faded city, is not the usual TV travelogue which so often leans heavily on the Eiffel Tower and the Arc de Triomphe. Director Frederic Rossel explores the hidden facets of the city. He also incorporates old amateur films showing Remol painting, Kodak sculpting, and Sarah Bernhardt playing Hamlet (yes, she played the prince!) and Camille. Four Star will be releasing the film with Charles Boyer doing the narrating. I can't wait.

It seemed like a nutty notion for Tony Mann to bring his $6,000,000 picture, The Unknown Battle ... come say the title concerns Kirk Douglas and Richard Harris ... to the cold and damp of Rjukan, Norway. But it is exactly where all the fighting took place between the Nazis and the Norwegians for the atomic bomb research facility. Kirk's oldest son, Mike, had been working on the film as a second assistant director but he is now back at university. Kirk and Richard have been getting on well, as I told you, but there has been a lot of instinctive edging for the best camera positions. Have you ever known a star who didn't? Shades of those old pictures, co-starring Bette Davis and Miriam Hopkins!

They say that Ava Gardner has not said no to starring in a play in Madrid. It would be the first for Ava on any stage, which makes me wonder if she will say yes ... Diane Cilento's seven-year-old daughter Giovanna plays her son in The Agony and The Ecstasy. Well, if Diana Dors can play a boy in pantomime, I guess anything is possible ... Sir Alec Guinness plunked down a goodly sum for a big house in London which means he is returning to live in England after a tax sabbatical abroad.

I keep hearing stories that Jack Warner is interested in doing David Peabody's version of Fanny Hill, which will have the title, Diary of A Woman of Pleasure.

Ingrid Bergman is controlling the cigarette habit by knitting sweaters for daughter Pia. It isn't that Ingrid likes to knit, but it's hard to knit and smoke at the same time.

With Harlow getting off to a later start than planned, it is now doubtful whether Carroll Baker can attend the Cannes film festival as planned ... If Barbara Stanwyck makes her night club debut in Las Vegas, as I hear she might, Lyn Duddy will write and direct the act. Barbara has never bothered to dye her hair. Her locks are grey, but the figure is that of a girl.

Inger Stevens met a talented Spanish sculptor when she was in Paris last fall. And with her Farmer's Daughter due for a brief hiatus, Inger is hoping to fly to Paris to resume where they left off ... Anna Miller, the happiest girl in town since resuming her career, I never knew why she ever gave it up.

Recently I wondered in the column, whatever happened to the star of Ella Kazan's America, America, Mathia Giallalis? I have a note with this information and the fact that Mathia has been starring in The Eavesdropper in London with Janet Margolin, who was so good in David and Lisa. Those who have seen the film tell me that his English is better, ditto for his acting. And his sex appeal really comes across in this film. We shall be waiting.

You're Getting On If —

By HAL BOYLE

Here are some more ways to tell whether you are middle-aged:

The most fun you have all day is taking off your shoes when you come home from the office.

You don't like to see movies that have sad endings.

The dentist tells you that seeing him twice a year isn't enough.

You don't have to let out your belt another notch, but you feel more comfortable if you do.

Everytime you buy anything in a men's store you give the salesman a long lecture on how much more expensive things now are than they used to be.

The girls in the office quit giving you a kiss on your birthday.

You spend more time visiting sick friends in the hospital and going to funerals.

The list of things you shouldn't eat is longer than the list of things left for you to like.

You're the only one in your crowd who can remember what Mary Pickford looked like as a girl.

The days seem longer but the years go by on roller skates.

When you break a shoface, instead of throwing it away you tie it together and go on using it.

Other fellows always seem to have newer jokes than you do.

You begin to notice how much older everybody else looks.

It used to take you 20 minutes to get a haircut. Now you can get one in 10.

You get a little winded when you have to bend down to tune the television set.

If you read a good book review, you see no reason for reading the book.

You have to give up chewing gum as you find it sticks to your dentures.

When you talk to a younger person, you sound like a volume of proverbs. No matter what subject comes up, you always wind up trying to give him some sage advice.

It takes longer to wake up in the morning, and longer to fall asleep at night.

Your medicine chest gets more crowded. You also read the medical column in your paper daily, even if it discusses a disease you haven't got. Who knows? You may get it later.

Unless Russia Shows Signs

U.S., China War Called Inevitable

By IAN ARROL

An American-Chinese war will take place, according to the dean of arts at Royal Roads Canadian Services College — unless Russia shows unmistakable signs of joining on the side of China.

Professor Charles S. Burchill sees American bombing of North Viet Nam as a test whether Russia will support, or desert Communist revolutions.

SECOND OF SERIES

The president of the World Federalists of Canada made his remarks Sunday night at the second meeting in the six-month series on International Explorations, sponsored by the Victoria Unitarian Church, 106 Superior, as a project for International Co-operation Year.

"The present U.S. policy of bombing North Viet Nam every time a reverse is suffered in South Viet Nam will have the effect of extending the war to North Viet Nam and then China."

'INTENTION TO TEST'

"The U.S. intention is to test Chinese Russian co-operation. If Russia shows unmistakable signs of joining, war will not take place."

"If not, war will take place." The dean outlined the reasons neither China nor the United States can be expected to back down.

"China wants the West to allow social revolution to go on in South Viet Nam and probably much of Asia as well — maybe Malaysia, Burma and possibly India.

'FUGITIVE GOVERNMENT'

"The West wants China to go away — the fugitive government at Peking to dissolve itself and accept the fugitive government of Chiang Kai-shek."

The possibility of finding a middle ground was seen by the speaker as very remote, "particularly since the U.S. seems to have the support of her normal Western allies."

Neutralization of the area, as called for by French President

Charles de Gaulle, would be a temporary and not very satisfactory solution as far as most Western nations are concerned.

BECOME COMMUNIST

"If foreign troops were withdrawn, it is almost certain South Viet Nam would become Communist and that socialist revolutions would tend to spread in Southeast Asia."

Professor Burchill described these revolutions as inspired by the modern belief of the world in underdeveloped countries that grinding poverty is not a necessary condition of life.

'BY TWO-THIRDS'

"The history of the remaining part of the 20th century is most likely to be written by the two-thirds of mankind who live in Asia, Africa and South America," he said.

"China encourages these revolutions."

"Russia has pretty well stopped stirring up trouble. She feels any social revolution in these countries is liable to trigger off a nuclear war, a war which would destroy civilization at least and which could destroy humanity."

'SUFFER IN SILENCE'

"Russia believes that the hard duty of those in the underdeveloped countries is to suffer in silence until the historical situation is changed."

Asked if Red China admittance to the United Nations would be a solution, the professor said:

"There wouldn't be a UN if China were admitted. The U.S. would withdraw from the UN; she would not be prepared to accept Chinese conditions for admittance."

CANADIAN LETTERS

Asked what Canadians could do to stop the impending war between the United States and China, Professor Burchill suggested letters to the prime minister and minister of external affairs opposing the American policy in South Viet Nam.

"If they were to receive two or three thousand such letters while this crisis is on, there would be another phone call in Washington with another explanation of Canadian policy."

HIT, ROBBED

VANCOUVER (CP) — John Joseph Gordon of Prince George told police he was robbed on the head outside a city hotel Saturday night and robbed of $300.

Holdup Loot?

Man Tries to Pass Dollar Bill with Holes

VANCOUVER (CP) — Vancouver police Monday put out a pick-up alarm for a middle-aged man they said attempted to pass a $1 bill which had three holes punched in it, like those taken last Thursday in a raid on a Canadian Pacific Railway warehouse here.

The three thieves — aided by a fourth who drove a getaway car — escaped with a total of $1,200, 000 in bank notes after tying up a watchman.

But every bill, in denominations, from $1 to $1,000, are worthless because most had been cancelled with three holes punched across their centre. Others were mutilated or stamped cancelled.

The money was in old bills, collected from chartered banks in the Vancouver area and was awaiting shipment to Ottawa for final destruction by the Bank of Canada.

Police said the man tried Saturday to pass the holed $1 bill at a big Vancouver department store — the first such attempt since the robbery. But a clerk took one look at the bill and rejected it. The man fled.

Legend in Lifetime

Cancer Kills Singer

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Cancer Monday took the life of velvet-voiced Nat King Cole, an Alabama-born Negro whose unique singing style and gentle personality made him one of the entertainment world's greatest stars.

For more than a quarter of a century, Cole was a show business legend — a top night club and recording star and a frequent performer on television. His records sold in the millions.

He entered St. John's Hospital in nearby Santa Monica last Dec. 5 for tests which disclosed a malignant tumor in his left lung.

Surgeons removed the lung just three weeks ago and his post-operative condition was reported satisfactory.

At no time would physicians make a prognosis as to eventual recovery, however.

WIFE BY SIDE

On the weekend, Cole's condition worsened and he died at 8:30 a.m. PST Monday with his wife, Maria, by his bedside.

The hospital said its records showed Cole's age as 45. Early publicity releases said he was born March 17, 1917, which would make him 47.

As a measure of his popularity, he received almost 500,000 letters from well-wishers throughout the world after he entered the hospital, his wife said.

MANY HITS

His hit recordings were almost innumerable. His latest was "L-O-V-E." Other successes included "Just One of Those Things," "The Very Thought of You," "Welcome to the Club," "Those Lazy, Hazy, Crazy Days of Summer," "Mona Lisa," "Nature Boy," "Too Young," and "Rambling Rose."

Nat King Cole was a natural musician. His innate sense of rhythm, the velvety quality of his voice, and his distinct phrasing made him unique. The purring quality of his voice was apparently an accident of nature.

He enjoyed telling a story on himself — a physician heard him sing and advised, "With a throat like that, son, you should be home in bed."

The riches Cole gained with fame left him unchanged. He was ever ready to give his time and talent to charitable causes. He never had a harsh word for anyone — even when he was the target of racial discrimination in his early days.

Cole was an avid sports fan and frequently attended games of the Los Angeles Dodgers and Los Angeles Angels.

MAJOR LEAGUE

He was major league in every sense — as an entertainer and as a man.

Nat Cole began his life as Nathaniel Adams Cole in Montgomery, Ala., under conditions that gave no hint of his future success. His father, Edward James Cole, was an impoverished Baptist preacher and part-time share-cropper.

His mother was a church choir singer and gave him his early training in music. The family moved to Chicago, Ill., when Nat was 4, and he received his education there.

He began his entertaining career as a pianist with the Nat Cole Trio which toured U.S. night clubs, drawing down the grand sum of $75 a week.

He became a singer one night when a drunken patron insisted he try his favorite tune, "Sweet Lorraine." That was in 1937. He got the nick name King in a nightclub too when a patron placed a gilded cardboard tiara on his head.

Cole's income rose to $10,000 a week. His records sold more than 50,000,000 copies.

He is survived by his wife the former Maria Ellington, and five children — Carol, 20, Natalie, 15, Nat Kelly, 6, and twins, Timolin and Casey, 3.

Former U.S. Envoy Says:

Soviet Over Barrel In Viet Nam Crisis

PRINCETON, N.J. (UPI) — George F. Kennan, former U.S. ambassador to Russia and Yugoslavia, says the South Viet Nam situation has put the Russians over a barrel.

Kennan, now a member of the Princeton University faculty and the Institute for Advanced Study, spoke at a dinner Sunday night honoring the 35 students of the New York Herald Tribune's world youth forum.

TWO POSSIBILITIES

His comments came in response to their questions.

The Russians are left with two possibilities, he said. They can get themselves involved in an unwanted war, or they can appear to compromise with the West.

He termed the Viet Nam war obviously an extremely dangerous situation, but said it is difficult to see how the war could be escalated.

"The Communist Chinese do not want a war over South Viet Nam," he said.

FEEL SAME WAY

And the Soviet, although sympathetic to a takeover by internal Communist forces feel the same way.

Kennan said if the U.S. pulls out of Viet Nam, the Americans' departure would have to be well timed so it would not leave chaos in the area and thus endanger the freedom of other South-eastern Asian countries.

Beeranship is the art of learning inside information about beer.

Let's revive the grand art of pouring beer.

Beeranship had its real beginnings 50 years ago.

In those days a man's pouring technique was as important as his fishing technique. A good beer-pourer could gather a crowd almost anywhere he went.

Nowadays many men are too busy to give their beer the attention it deserves.

Well, this modern age has robbed us of too many good old things. It's time we fought back. It's time we revived pouring as a prideful thing.

Take a tip from our brew-master: Pour your beer boldly into the centre of the glass, so that it gets a good head. This releases the bouquet. Doubles your enjoyment.

Try it with Molson Canadian — the light beer that's all beer

Improbable Opera

By BERT DINNY

To ensure complete enjoyment of the Canadian Opera Company's current production of Die Fledermaus it is first necessary to check every idea on what is reasonable with one's hat and coat.

This is by no means an adverse criticism: it is simply to state that expectations of deep emotional display and torrid passion are not going to be fulfilled.

Die Fledermaus was first produced in Vienna in 1874. It remains so today with Ruth and Thomas Martin's English translation plus the added topical allusions increasing this effect even more.

CAST BURDENED

But whatever the atmosphere to be created, the responsibility for its creation lies almost wholly with the cast.

Traveling across Canada and visiting the United States, the company cannot carry masses of scenery and lights. What they have is adequate most of the way, although the set of Prince Orlofsky's Palace was sadly unimpressive; the space was confined even for the very limited number of guests involved.

Nevertheless it is in prospecting for musical and histrionic talents that we really strike it rich and uncover an operatic and theatrical Golconda.

MELODIOUS VOICES

Rich, melodious singing voices are the order of the day; characterization is left and consistent; such smaller, but nonetheless vastly important, matters as timing and even "dressing the stage" are done unobtrusively but so effectively that a comforting ease and fluency is given to the entire performance. The cast was slightly changed—five out of 15 participants.

from Sunday to Monday we are concerned with the former.

John Arab made a superb Alfred; so full of caritative enthusiasm and so impressive in his air of command. As Dr. Falke, Peter van Ginkel and, as Baron von Eisenstein, Raymond Charella were excellent.

William Copeland's Frank, the prison warden, was also completely delightful and the speaking part of Frosch, the ineffectual pailer, could not have been carried better than by Ron Hammer.

As Prince Orlofsky, that very well known and popular basso, Jan Rubes, brought his own brand of humour and enchantment to a role usually sustained by a mezzo-soprano or a contralto. His interpolated verses to Chacun a son Gout (relating on Sunday afternoon to Canadian "hoose" and the new Canadian flag) were deservedly well received.

Tito Dean provided a thoroughly acceptable Dr. Blind and Ronald Nipper gave a shining demonstration of how to invest a small part—that of Ivan—with enormous stature.

RECENT ROLE

The two leading female parts, those of Rosalinda and Adele, were sung by Constance Fisher and Kathryn Newman. Here again there was expert characterization and delightful singing.

Miss Newman, who pursued her path through three acts attractively, has only recently undertaken the role of Adele.

Miss Fisher seemed a trifle stiff from time to time; there was conscious and apparent effort to produce the right effect, she hovered between playing the part and actually living it.

AMAZING JOB

The Victoria Symphony orchestra with conductor Otto-Werner Mueller did a noble job in the pit, "an amazing job" as one prominent member of the cast put it. They are to be congratulated on performing so well a musical duty outside their accustomed sphere.

Die Fledermaus was sponsored in Victoria by the Women's Symphony Committee.

The next Symphony concert is at Sidney Feb. 28 and March 1 in Victoria Feb. 28 and March 1 with two compositions of Wagner and one by Brahms on the program.

Santas in Off Season

Among first donors for December 1965 Colonist 500 Fund which brings Christmas cheer to 500 needy families in Greater Victoria area are members of Goldstream Chapter, Order of DeMolay, who contributed $20 from recent bottle drive. They are Inger Wik, chapter sweetheart, and Jim Shepherd, master councillor, holding cheque; at rear, from left, Bill Wellburn, Paul Morrison and Jim Nightingale.—(Bud Kinsman)

Major Success Scored in Play At St. Matthias

By BERT DINNY

In order to reflect credit on Victoria theatrical circles in general the St. Matthias Little Theatre Society has only one thing to do.

When, on April 2, they present The Importance of Being Earnest in the Dominion Drama Festival, they have only to do as well as they did last night—opening night.

The Importance of Being Earnest was beautifully constructed and written by Oscar Wilde. All the literary ingredients for first class entertainment are present.

Such material can, of course, be ignored or mishandled but last night's cast played it for just about all it is worth.

Richard Litt as John Worthing was quite brilliant; he met the demands made by the character with high success. Particularly subtly brought off were his changes in attitude and approach according to the different people he had to deal with.

Stanley Hucles provided a gay, carefree Algernon Moncrieff; definitely the type who could think up a fictitious individual like "Bunbury," ready at a moment's notice to provide an excuse for some otherwise inexplicable foray.

SHINING SUCCESS

Veteran actor Ken Bawock applied all his skill to the interpretation of the part of Dr. Chasuble. This produced a shining success; a part played with attention to every detail of characterization.

Jennifer Chaster played Lady Bracknell with eminently suitable hauteur. Jennifer Allen as Cecily Cardew employed delightfully different means of accomplishing exactly the same end while Phyllis Gaskell's Miss Prism was always thoroughly acceptable.

The minor parts require some more polishing but there is time for this before April 2.

Directed by Vera Trueman, The Importance of Being Earnest continues every evening this week; 8:15 at St. Matthias Parish Hall.

Students Seen As Tribute To Centenary

Students who complete Grade 10 in June will go into "a completely new type of senior secondary school" next September. Education Minister Peterson told the legislature Monday.

These students of British Columbia's modernized public school system, when they finally graduate in 1967, will be the province's greatest tribute to the centenary of Canada's nationhood, the minister said.

They will be the first to take full advantage of the "streaming" of studies in senior secondary school which provides 50 revised or new courses in 18 fields of study.

GREAT CHANGES

"Great as have been the changes in public school organization to date, the greatest of the planned changes are still to come," he said.

Re-organization of public schools at the junior secondary level is now complete, he said, and approximately 84,000 students in Grades 8, 9 and 10 have settled down to a program unique in Canada. These schools prepare students for "streaming."

Parallel to regular work in junior secondary schools, he said, is an occupational program which this year will cater to more than 5,000 students. Many of these would otherwise be school dropouts.

THE LAST GAP

In elementary school the "new arithmetic" will be introduced in Grades 1 and 2 and Grade 6 next September and the last gap in the system, in Grade 7, will be filled in September, 1966.

In September new readers and spellers will be introduced in Grade 2 and new reading books will be used in Grade 4.

Mr. Peterson said B.C. is on the verge of a new era of "post-secondary education" that will see all of the $34,000,000 of federal money that is available spent on vocational and technical facilities and another $18,000,000 on similar facilities that don't qualify for federal assistance.

GRANTS INCREASED

The minister also said operating grants to the province's three major public universities this year will total $18,500,000—an increase of 25 per cent.

Dr. Pat McGeer (L—Point Grey) said the grants to UBC have been cut.

The minister made no reference to the fact that this September Simon Fraser University opens its doors for the first time and estimates include six months operating costs which were not included in the 1964 budget.

No One Was Happy

PARIS — This is the sad story of a brave French soldier and a woman with a past who wanted to forget her troubles in the River Seine.

The saga began Saturday night when Miss Germaine Perret, 63, took a dive in the icy river. She was under investigation for an alleged $12,000 shortage reported by a firm which employed her as a bookkeeper.

The gallant soldier, Jean Pierre Ravaut, 20, was walking across a bridge when Miss Perret jumped.

Ravaut ripped off his uniform, dived in and saved Miss Perret. When he pulled the woman to shore Ravaut's uniform was gone.

Ravaut's superiors took a dim view of the incident. He now faces charges of "losing military equipment."

Miss Perret was also unhappy. She was turned over to authorities to explain the money shortage.

OCEANSIDE, Calif. — TV actor Henry Kulky, 43, known to fans for his parts in Hennessy and Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea, collapsed and died Sunday in a tavern here, apparently victim of a heart attack.

MILAN, Italy — Princess Soraya, once empress of Iran who has launched a career in movies, attended a premiere here of her first film, The Three Faces of a Woman.

PORTSMOUTH, England — Dr. J. H. L. Phillips, Anglican Bishop of Portsmouth, laments an oversight which sees no celebration of history's biggest invasion—D-Day. Many of the troops who invaded Europe left from this port.

NEW YORK — Malcolm X, controversial black nationalist leader whose home was damaged by three gasoline bombs, says "It doesn't frighten me; it doesn't quiet me down in any way or shut me up."

VATICAN CITY — Pope Paul received two special envoys of ecumenical Patriarch Athenagoras of Constantinople, here to further contacts between the Eastern Orthodox and Roman Catholic churches.

WARSAW — American playwright Arthur Miller has arrived in Poland from a visit in the Soviet Union. His play, After the Fall, is to be presented here next week, and his Incident in Vichy will be staged here later.

RIYADH, Saudi Arabia — Prince Philip left here by air for Karachi, Pakistan, on the start of a six-week Far Eastern tour.

SARNIA, Ont. — John Pitman, 21, a farm worker, was arrested here on a charge of capital murder in connection with the slaying of school teacher Marianne Vandervliet, 27, near Dublin, Ont.

MONTREAL — Dr. Pauline Bergeoff-tillot of Montreal was fined $18,000 on two charges of failing to make a proper federal income tax return.

LONDON — Lionel Chevrier, Canada's high commissioner in London, said Queen Elizabeth was "never in danger" during last October's Royal Visit to Canada.

HULL, Que. — Louis Ephrem Dupont, 46, a former immigration department employee, was fined $450 on charges of wilfully forsaking his duty and obtaining $1,712 in loans from Portuguese immigrants. Dupont said he had a drinking problem.

HAVANA — Premier Castro has taken over direction of Cuba's agriculture from Carlos Rafael Rodriguez.

LONDON — Former con man Stanley Lowe, who has spent 14 of his 42 years in prison, invited 30 of his onetime victims from whom he bilked $112,000 to lunch at a hotel here. None of them showed up. "Perhaps they thought it was another con and that they would be left with the bill," Lowe said sadly.

HORNING, England — A 54-year-old Fred Caplan to give up his attempt to beat the world's non-stop walking record. Caplan had completed 65 miles on an airfield near Norwich. The record, set 82 years ago by an American, is 121 miles, 385 yards.

WHITEHORSE — Knud Rich and Karsel is to be released from mental hospital a year after he was found not guilty by reason of insanity for the capital murder of his wife Fern. He is to be released by order of Gordon Cameron, territorial commissioner, on the condition he not return to the Yukon and that he continues psychiatric treatment under private supervision.

TORONTO — Confusion was inevitable, and this family has already tasted it. The father has come to this city on a three-year assignment for the Mormon church, and found on their way the airline clerk didn't know if they were a family or a destination. Their name: Mr. and Mrs. Lamont E. Torontu, and children.

LONDON — British actor Peter Sellers was rejected recuperating at his home in Surrey from a recurrence of an old back injury.

BREST, France — Demonstrating Brest farmers and laborers

slugged it out with riot police

as President de Gaulle visited

French nuclear submarine installations here.

NEW YORK — J. K. Jamieson of New York, a native of Med-

president of Standard Oil Co.

Flies Around World

Toasts, Jets, Tears
Greet Maple Leaf

By CANADIAN PRESS
In a day of toasts and scarlet tunics, booming guns and howling jets, salutes and pledges of loyalty, cheers, smiles and some tears, Canada and the world greeted the new maple leaf flag Monday.

At the United Nations in New York, the new flag joined those of 114 other nations. The Red Ensign was lowered at noon and handed to a UN undersecretary to be retained as one of the original flags of the world body.

Japanese Song

Japanese college girls rendered "God Save the Queen" in Tokyo as Canadian embassy officials hoisted the flag. About 100 Canadians were present.

About 100 persons stood silent outside Canada House in London as the maple leaf flag flew over British soil for the first time.

High Commissioner Lionel Chevrier, officials and guests celebrated the occasion in champagne.

There was champagne too in Moscow after the ceremony outside the Canadian Embassy.

Snowstorm

About 400 persons, many of them Canadian children waving small Canadian flags, attended a Washington ceremony.

Ambassador Gordon Gale presided at a brief ceremony in Rome.

10,000 Cheer

The flag was also raised at NATO headquarters in Paris and in ceremonies at Canadian diplomatic and trade posts in New Zealand and Australia.

In Ottawa 10,000 persons cheered the maple leaf to the masthead on Parliament Hill.

The provincial capitals greeted the new flag too.

Added Sparkle

A brilliant blue sky and low temperatures gave added sparkle to a brief but impressive ceremony as the flag snapped out in a brisk wind over Winnipeg.

Four RCAF jet aircraft flew overhead and a band played O Canada.

A six-man color guard of members of veterans' associations escorted the lowered Red Ensign into the provincial library where it was placed behind the Books of Remembrance.

A 20-mile-an-hour wind, a temperature of nine degrees below zero, six jet aircraft, a 21-gun salute and about 300 persons hailed the new flag at Saskatchewan's legislative building in Regina.

PGE Union Defiant

Trainmen Rebel,
Strike Continues

VANCOUVER (CP)—Pacific Great Eastern Railway trainmen rebelled against their union leaders Monday night and continued to strike against the provincially-owned railway only hours after agreement was announced.

Picket lines went up again around PGE yards, and the trainmen said they would not return to work.

SOLD DOWN RIVER

They said they were sold down the river by their negotiating committee, which signed an agreement to end the strike that began Feb. 2 without permitting a vote among striking members of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen (CLC).

The move came only hours after Labor Minister Leslie Peterson and representatives of the PGE and the brotherhood's negotiating committee emerged from a meeting to announce a settlement.

The railway then announced normal service on the 750-mile line from Vancouver to Fort St. John would resume today.

NOT UNTIL VOTE

The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen sent a letter Monday night to J. S. Broadbent, general manager of the PGE, telling him the local's members would not go back to work until they vote on the new contract.

The strike was called off at noon with the signing of a contract agreed to by J. W. Robinson, chairman of the brotherhood's PGE locals.

Before it was signed, members sought an injunction to prevent the ratification, but were too late.

ASK RESIGNATION

They called an emergency meeting, and asked Mr. Robinson to resign as general chairman of Locals 1080 and 645.

A union spokesman said the strike is legal, not wildcat, and is based on the union's constitution.

PGE General Manager Broadbent said the trains would run regardless of what the local does.

Two freights left North Vancouver yards Monday night, apparently manned by engineers, with supervisory personnel acting as train crew.

Hoot, Yell

QUEBEC CITY (UPI)—A small but noisy group of separatists hooted and yelled during flag-raising ceremonies Monday.

Threat to Margaret Reported in London

LONDON (Reuters)—Two newspapers report a threat has been made against Princess Margaret.

Scotland Yard declined comment on the stories which appear in The Daily Mirror and The Sun in connection with the princess' attendance at the annual royal film performance here Monday night.

Margaret, her husband Lord Snowdon and Queen Mother Elizabeth went to the Odeon Theatre in Leicester Square for the performance, the premiere of the movie Lord Jim.

The Mirror quotes a police superintendent in charge of security at the Odeon:

"We are taking special precautions because a threat has been made against Princess Margaret."

The newspaper says later, at Scotland Yard, an officer said: "We know of no threat."

The Sun says extra police were drafted to the royal film performance "after a threat had been made against Princess Margaret."

Save Rum, or Risk Mayhem

OTTAWA (CP)—Elected member John Goodall cautioned the Northwest Territories Council Monday against banning the sale of overproof rum in the north.

"If I voted for it, I could wrap myself in the Red Ensign and it still wouldn't save me from mayhem," said the 76-year-old former postmaster of Fort Simpson.

Council postponed action on a recommendation from commissioner B. G. Sivertz that the sale of overproof rum not be extended to territorial liquor stores in Inuvik, Froisher Bay and other centres. It now is stocked by stores in Yellowknife and Fort Smith.

Mr. Sivertz said the stronger brew wasn't carried in the Mackenzie area because "Delta Indians and Eskimos apparently did not realize that the potency of overproof rum meant incapacity twice as fast."

Several council members said it isn't fair that the potent brew is available in some communities and not in others.

Dr. G. C. Butler said he would prefer to see only one strength of liquor carried in the stores.

Eskimos and Indians in many cases can't read the label on the bottle and would assume there is no difference between them.

Tabled at the meeting was the result of a two-year study of the high number of suicides in the territories. In 1964 the rate per 100,000 population in the provinces was 7.2 compared with 14.7 in the territories.

In 25 per cent of the 20 territorial suicides, the person was under the influence of alcohol, the report said, adding that there were no suicides among about 10 miles west of Fargo in east central North Dakota.

The violent force of the accident smashed and twisted boxcars like pieces of tinfoil. Then fire raced through the twisted debris, destroying about 30 of the cars, said Roy Johnson, assistant superintendent of the railway's Fargo division.

The explosion was triggered in a tank car filled with industrial peroxide, officials said.

About 24 school children were splattered with the peroxide when it sprayed through the air. They washed off the flecks of chemical and appeared to suffer no ill effects.

Youths Hail
Their Chief

Crowding around Premier and Mrs. Bennett in the legislative buildings Monday in honor of the premier's record-breaking stay in office are members of the Young Social Credit League, who came from all parts of B.C.

POLICE SHOOT
DEMONSTRATORS

SAIGON (AP)—Troops put down anti-government demonstrations in two northern towns of South Viet Nam Monday, killing 15 civilians in one of them. South Vietnamese government spokesmen here said the Viet Cong may have inspired both outbursts.

Moscow Warns:

'Air Strikes
Could Spark
World War'

MOSCOW (UPI)—Moscow Radio said today the United States air strikes against North Viet Nam could lead to a world war. It said the "responsibility for the dire consequences for such a policy rest with America."

"The flames of war starting in one place could easily spread to neighboring countries and, in the final count, embrace the whole world," Moscow Radio said.

Meanwhile, Chinese Foreign Minister Chen Yi called for a joint Sino-Chinese policy of "concrete action" against "U.S. imperialism." The Chinese statement, monitored in Tokyo, said such a get-tough policy is the only way to consolidate and develop Sino-Soviet unity.

ATTACKS PLANNED

Moscow Radio said, "judging from reports the United States is making preparations for new raids" on North Viet Nam.

"Large contingents of U.S. armed forces are being concentrated off the shores of Indo-China, including an extremely powerful striking force from the U.S. 7th Fleet."

Government troops opened fire on a crowd of about 2,000 as it attempted to storm the district chief's house at Thang Binh, 20 miles south of the U.S.-Vietnamese air base at Da Nang. The demonstrators were demanding an end to air and artillery warfare in their towns and villages.

CIVILIANS WOUNDED

In addition to the 15 dead, an unknown number of civilians were wounded, a South Vietnamese military spokesman said.

Another demonstration was put down without gunfire at Tam Ky, 20 miles farther south. The military commander of the region, Brig.-Gen. Nguyen Chanh Thi, visited both communities in an attempt to prevent further unrest.

35 VIET CONG DIE

In the same northern region, a government battalion aided by armored troop carriers engaged a guerrilla band 20 miles northwest of Hue. Reliable reports said the government troops killed 35 Viet Cong, captured five and took 25 weapons, including three machine-guns.

Government casualties were put at one dead and one wounded.

Saigon authorities charged that troops from five North Vietnamese divisions have infiltrated South Viet Nam since 1959. They said at least 19,000 men have made the crossing and that, of these, more than 25,000 ranked as squad leaders or higher.

LISTED INSTALLATIONS

A statement listed seven North Vietnamese installations as figuring heavily in the infiltration. By implication, all seven are potentially targets for future bombing raids.

The expected announcement of a new government, the eighth shakeup in 16 months, was delayed. Informed sources said there was a snag about the appointment of a new interior minister.

The nominee was Tran Van Tuyen, slated also to become a deputy premier. He is of North Vietnamese extraction and the military, while liking him personally, questioned whether a man with such a background could well handle interior ministry dealings with the touchy religious groups of South Viet Nam.

Message

MOSCOW (AP)—A senior British diplomat met for 30 minutes Monday with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei I. Gromyko. He blurted later they discussed the Viet Nam crisis and that he may be carrying a Soviet message back to London.

Threat

HONG KONG (AP)—The Communist Chinese newspaper Ta Kung Pao said Monday China not only will enter the Vietnamese war but also will reopen the Korean war if U.S. troops cross the 17th parallel into North Viet Nam.

Pickets

MONTREAL (CP)—Some 300 demonstrators picketed the United States consulate Sunday in protest against U.S. military action in Viet Nam.

The 30-minute march was the third and largest protest since U.S. bombing raids of North Viet Nam began.

New Premier

SAIGON (Reuters)—South Viet Nam's military leaders Monday appointed a former foreign minister, Phan Huy Quat, as premier.

The military leaders reserved the right to mediate in political disputes.

Port Alberni Aldermen Best on Ice

PORT ALBERNI—City council's rink, skipped by Ald. Garnet Reynolds, won the first-place trophy Sunday in the annual inter-council bonspiel here.

A Nanaimo-Port Alberni curling contest has been held each year for some time but, for the 1965 event, Courtenay and Alberni accepted invitations to send council rinks to the Port arena.

DUNCAN — About 315 teenagers attended the successful Valentine sweetheart dance staged Saturday night in Duncan Elementary School's gymnasium by the recently-formed Teen Town organization. The next dance will be held March 13 or 20 and plans for it will be made at the next general meeting of the Teen Town committee in the same gym Saturday. Proceeds from Saturday's dance will help buy Teen Town sports equipment.

Mental Health

Community Place For Care

PORT ALBERNI — All general hospitals of 100 beds or more should create facilities for psychiatric care so this type of patient may be treated in their own communities.

This statement was made by Dr. Hamish Nichol of the UBC department of psychiatry to the annual meeting in the Greenwood Hotel of the Canadian Mental Health Association's Alberni Valley branch.

Executive

The meeting elected Robert Scofield as president with Mrs. William Scott, first vice-president; Mrs. Roland Stickle, second vice-president; George Watson, secretary; and Alec Armstrong, treasurer.

Dr. Nichol said great changes have come in recent years in the treatment of mental illness.

He said a generation ago most treatment was given in provincial mental hospitals while today most psychiatrists practise in their own offices.

As this has come about, he said, facilities for in-patient care of mental illnesses have been developed in general hospitals.

'Inadequate'

However, the facilities are inadequate to meet the demand and, as the supply of psychiatrists increases, more will establish practices in smaller communities where hospitals can provide in-patient treatment.

Dr. Nichol also said modern emphasis on the teaching of psychiatry would mean treatment of mental illness by physicians who enter general practice.

Alberni Health Unit

IWA Will Vote On $1,500 Aid

PORT ALBERNI — Members of the IWA local here will vote at their next regular meeting on a motion to donate $1,500 to help defray the cost of the new Alberni health unit.

A spokesman for the executive said Monday the officers feel $1,500 from the local, "plus the monies that will be donated from social service funds of operations in the district will bring the contribution to an amount over $3,000."

AT LEAST A DOLLAR

This would average at least $1 a member.

The social service funds in the plants are maintained by the workers.

A suggestion that the union make a direct donation was brought forward as a notice of motion at a meeting Sunday, when the request from the Kinsmen Club was discussed.

LOW TENDER HIGH

It was agreed that the health unit was "a worthwhile project," the spokesman said.

The Kinsmen, who undertook to raise the community's share of the health unit's costs, were faced with the need to find additional funds when the low tender exceeded estimates.

Alberni Area Group Elects New Officers

PORT ALBERNI — Dr. Roger Bleakley will again head the local branch of the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society.

Others elected at the recent annual meeting were Victor

Directors are George Hansen, Mrs. A. Steinhauer, Douglas

Willing, Dennis Wright, Joe Hill, Harry Pearson and Mrs. A. Stella.

Mrs. Ron Anderson will be in charge of vocational guidance and Dr. Ralph Pendleton will be medical adviser to the organization, which meets at 8 p.m. on the first Wednesday each month in the health centre.

Conveners include Douglas MacDonald, Mrs. Harry Strzaker, Mrs. Marie Foxcroft, Mrs. A. Dertell, Mrs. Ken Weaver and Bob McDonald. Mr. Price will act as campaign manager.

Chow Mein - In Quantity

VERNON (CP)—There was plenty of chow mein behind the scenes of the Vernon Winter Carnival which ended Saturday. A cooking crew, preparing for the annual chow mein dinner, cooked up a batch of chow mein using 85 pounds of flour, 408 eggs, 120 pounds of pork and 80 pounds of cabbage. More than 800 people were fed.

No Aspirins for Malnutrition

Problem: Sick Seagull

By LYNNE WALLER

NANAIMO — In between treating ailing dogs and cats, Dr. John Sheehan of the Nanaimo Veterinary Hospital was faced with an unusual problem during the weekend: what to do with a seagull suffering from malnutrition.

The bird, less than a year old, was found stuck between a chicken house and a stump at the home of Mrs. J. A. Edwards on Departure Bay Road. It was rescued and put with the chickens, but found to be too weak to stand up or fly.

Mrs. Edwards and Dick Bing, a long-time member of Nanaimo's SPCA tried feeding the seagull tuna fish, but to no avail.

At the pet hospital, Dr. Sheehan removed the tuna from the seagull's gullet while Mr. Bing and others held the bird's beak open.

After about 20 minutes, the doctor got down to rock bottom and found the seagull's crop and gullet lined with lesions, probably caused by a caustic material.

The bird was suffering from malnutrition because it was unable to digest any of the food it stuffed down its gullet. Dr. Sheehan recommended a diet of milk and sugar and plenty of rest... no aspirins.

Dr. Sheehan was asked if the bird was male or female. "Only another seagull could tell," he replied.

Courtenay Court

Prison Next Time, Youth Told

COURTENAY — "If you repeat this offence, I shall see that you go to prison," Magistrate John Ryland told an 18-year-old Cumberland youth in magistrate's court Monday.

Lloyd Earl Miller pleaded guilty to charges of being under 21 and in a beer parlor, and intoxication.

Court was told the intoxication charge resulted when Miller was admitted into the home of a family he knew slightly. A 10-year-old boy let him in and Miller went to the bedroom of a young girl.

Police said Miller had an intoxication conviction last month and the magistrate told the youth he had better behave himself in future.

'LOWDOWN TRICK'

He called the beer parlor incident "a particularly mean and lowdown trick" and fined Miller $30 on each charge.

Two men who pleaded guilty in the same court to charges of impaired driving, each was fined $125 and lost his driving licence for three months.

TIME PASSED

Police said Arthur McMillan Field was found slumped over the wheel of his car and in an advanced state of intoxication. They said Field was involved in a minor accident before their discovery and "some time" passed between the two incidents.

"It was an appallingly dangerous thing to do," the magistrate said. "The public must be protected."

ERRATIC MANNER

Kinsley Thurber of Comox was charged after a special constable saw him driving in an erratic manner. Police said he caused no trouble at all.

Terrance Jack Brown was remanded for a week on a charge of dangerous driving which followed damage to a garage and two fences by a careening car last week. He entered no plea.

Pair of Charges

Cowichan Home Robbed

DUNCAN—RCMP said Monday night they are investigating a burglary discovered by the owner of a Cowichan Bay Road home in the afternoon.

The owner, who was not identified in first reports, said a transistor radio, a car battery, two tires and rims and a custom radio were taken.

Charges Follow Fatal Accident

DUNCAN—A plea of not guilty was entered in magistrate's court Monday by a Cowichan Bay man who was one of two people in a car involved in a fatal accident last Oct. 31.

Gilbert Sam was remanded to March 11 for trial on charges of impaired driving and of driving while under suspension.

The car went out of control on Tzouhalem Road near the old stone church and crashed into a telephone pole. The other person in the car, Rennie Wilson, died instantly.

In the same court, 18-year-old Lewis Patrick Leudee of Duncan was fined a total of $144 after pleading guilty to three charges.

He was also prohibited from driving anywhere in Canada for a year. The charges were dangerous driving, driving without a licence and driving without insurance.

Police said they tried to check Leudee's car early Sunday, but he drove away at high speeds and without lights, ignoring stop signals. Eventually he was pulled over.

Ladysmith

Vote?

LADYSMITH — A tentative date of March 20 was set by town council Monday night for a ratepayers' vote on a $550,000 sewerage bylaw referendum.

The present sewer system serves about 2,000 people on 220 acres. The rest of the town's 3,500 people employ septic tanks.

The new system, involving the discharge of treated effluent into the harbor, would serve 3,800 people on 2,020 acres and eventually be able to serve up to 7,000, the forecast population here in 20 years.

CULTURAL CENTRE

Main purpose of the council meeting was to hear the recommendations of Vancouver town planner John Maitland-Carter on development of the 80-acre Parkway area between the town and Davis Road.

Advisory planning and recreation commissioners attended to hear the planner recommend homes on the hillside fringe and picnic grounds, a cultural centre, a playing field and small pools elsewhere.

Mayor Kathleen Grouhel said she was "very enthusiastic" about the development, which "will eventually draw many tourists."

Winter Aid Plea Rebuffed

VANCOUVER (CP)—Municipal Affairs Minister Campbell says federal Labor Minister MacEachen has misinterpreted a letter from him requesting an extension of the winter works program.

Mr. Campbell said Sunday he sought the extension of a month to May 31 on the grounds unusually heavy snow in B.C. exhausted municipal budgets.

SEVEN MONTHS?

However, the federal minister said Friday he found it difficult to support the contention that the Canadian winter covers seven months of the year and doesn't end until June 1.

"This isn't what I meant at all," said Mr. Campbell. "The fact is many municipalities have complained they have run out of money for these projects."

"From the tone of the minister's letter I doubt there will be any extension."

'Last' on Island

Choice Land Going

By JACK FRY

The provincial lands department plans to lease two strips of choice waterfront on Valdes Island near Nanaimo to people who applied for subdivisions there.

It was about the last crown land available for summer cottage type development in the Vancouver Island area, lands officials said Monday.

ALREADY SURVEYED

Applications for lot leases on Valdes Island did not pass before the public eye because of a legal technicality—that no advertisement is needed in connection with an application to lease crown land already surveyed.

First public hint of the development was Feb. 4, 1965, B.C. Gazette announcement that a 67-lot subdivision has been formed on the southeastern side of the island.

NOT COMPLETED

A smaller subdivision at the northeastern end has also been approved although lot subdivision has not been completed.

Though this land was not advertised for public sale, a search through government land records would have indicated it was available since 1938 when it reverted to the crown through non-payment of taxes, the officials said.

Names of the Valdes Island property holders were published with the Feb. 4 Gazette announcement. A number of the property holders are provincial civil servants.

Lots in the first subdivision are about 198 feet wide and 800 deep. They were leased at $40 a lot for a 21-year period.

These leases will bring the government $2,680 a year and a total of $36,280 during the 21-year period. Taxes will also be derived from any summer cottages built on the land.

Spring Can't Be Far Behind

While hockey players get ready for that last effort for playoff position, baseball men are gathering in such places as Florida and Arizona to get ready for another season. Red Schoendienst, manager of St. Louis Cardinals, looks ready to be as cooperative as possible for interview with Taffy Wilber, wife of former big-league catcher Del Wilber. Mrs. Wilber has her own television show for four years and, as can be plainly seen, has no trouble with the male species.—(AP)

Two Tries Against Totems Could Be Crucial to Leafs

Victoria Maple Leafs are looking for a bit of a cushion, and they may never have a better chance to get one than they have this week.

Leafs are scheduled only twice, both games at home and both are against Seattle.

	P	W	L	T	Pts
Portland	32	20	14	1	107
Seattle	31	20	14	1	106
Vancouver	31	20	14	1	105
VICTORIA	31	24	10	1	104
San Francisco	32	17	15	1	103
Los Angeles	32	19	13	1	102

Leafs' record: VICTORIA 1 at Portland 1, Seattle 2 at Vancouver 4, San Francisco 1 at Los Angeles 1.

Next game: Tonight—Seattle at VICTORIA.

Totems, who have had 5-6 troubles with the Victoria club this season.

It's a great chance to open up a little daylight between fourth place and the two California clubs as well as to sneak closer to the place and show positions in the Western Hockey League.

But it's also a chance to lose what cushion the Leafs have and make things tough in the last stages of a scramble for playoff position which could well go down to the last game of the season.

After this week, the Leafs have only six games left on home ice as compared to 17 on the road. And they face a closing schedule which calls for their last 15 games to be played in 23 days.

At this stage of the campaign in a league which shows a 99-48-10 edge for the home club, no club can afford to lose points at home.

This goes particularly for the Leafs, who are 18-9 in home and 6-17-1 on the road, where they will play 11 of their last 17 games. Four of them are in Vancouver and two in Los Angeles, cities where the Leafs are 0-8 for the season.

HOME STREAK

Going for the Leafs is the fact that they have all but been unbeatable at Memorial Arena for the past 10 weeks. Since early December, they have won 13 of 15 at home, scoring 77 goals and allowing 40 and slipping only against Los Angeles, 2-4, and San Francisco, 2-3.

The Leafs have also won four of the last five against Seattle but there have been recent signs that the Totems are coming out of the slump.

which dropped them from the league lead almost out of championship contention. They were beaten, 4-2, in Vancouver Sunday to have a four-game win streak ended.

Also losing ground were the Leafs, who took the short end of a 4-1 score in a frustrating game in Portland.

Leafs opened the scoring through Milan Marcetta in the second minute and then, they feel, got the worst of it again from the officials.

The Buckaroos scored twice in the second period with Larry Keenan serving a major penalty to go ahead. But the Leafs contended that it should have been no worse than 2-2, claiming that officials missed a first period goal by Sandy Huot.

And they claimed, too, that Pat Stapleton's 3-1 goal in the third period has yet to cross the goal-line. Fred Huot made a spirited claim at the time and missed 10 minutes of play when referee Willie Papp gave him a misconduct penalty.

"We got," coach Rudy Pilous said, "the short end of the stick."

McNeill to Coach Shamrocks Unanimous Pick of Directors

Jim McNeill, 23-year-old "veteran" of six Inter-City Lacrosse League seasons, was selected as coach of the Victoria Shamrocks for the 1965 season, becoming the youngest coach in ICLL history.

Unanimous choice of club directors at the annual meeting, McNeill succeeds Don Ashbee, veteran Nannimoon, who logged countless miles over the Island highway as playing coach for the past two seasons before deciding to call it a career, at least as far as the Shamrocks were concerned.

Although he was just approaching his playing peak last season, McNeill has job commitments which make continued active action too risky.

"I'd like to keep on playing," he said, "but I have a good job and injury could hurt my future prospects."

INSIDE TRACK

The young veteran has been the leading candidate ever since it was known that Ashbee would not be back. He fits the requirements of being an area resident as well as a non-player, and he is considered an astute and knowledgeable expert on lacrosse despite his years.

McNeill started his playing career in the Victoria Minor Lacrosse Association in pee wee ranks and has been a standout each step up the way to senior ranks.

BIG DEBUT

He played with the Victoria Junior Shamrocks while still a juvenile against Brampton in the 1964 Minto Cup final and broke in with the ICLL Shamrocks in 1959 when only 15.

And he broke in with a bang on a rookie-studded team, scoring 40 goals in 30 games.

In the ensuing five seasons, he has never reached his true potential until last season, when he led his club to a second-place finish with 41 goals and 21 assists in an outstanding season of two-way play.

Injuries limited his play in two seasons but in the 144 scheduled games which he played, he scored 250 points—167 goals and 83 assists.

GOOD START

This won't be McNeill's first coaching experience. He coached in minor ranks for three seasons and came up with a perfect record, twice winning provincial championships with his Butler Brothers Juvenile "B" team, then adding a third title when he moved the club up to juvenile "A."

McNeill is expected to have all but one or two of the players who were with the Shamrocks last season and will bolster his club with several stars from the Junior Shamrocks.

EARLY WORKOUTS

He is wasting no time getting his club ready for the season. The Shamrocks will start training indoors perhaps as soon as the end of the month but early in March at the latest. The season will open late in April.

Play Tonight

Toronto Brawl to Cost $925

MONTREAL (UPI)—National Hockey League president Clarence Campbell Monday night fined 17 players a total of $925 for swarming on the ice during a wild free for all that erupted during a Toronto Maple Leaf-Montreal Canadiens game last Wednesday.

Hardest hit was Canadiens' utility man Jim Roberts, fined

$125 and judged by Campbell to be "primarily responsible" for the donnybrook and 20-minute delay in the game. (Toronto won 6-2.)

In addition 10 Canadiens and six Leafs were each fined $50 for the infraction—leaving the bench to enter an altercation. The minimum levy is $25.

During the game, Roberts, an alternating defenceman-winger, hurled the Canadiens' box and surged towards a fight already in progress involving the Leafs' Frank Mahovlich and Canadiens' Ted Harris.

"This produced a chain reaction with players from the Toronto team and the Montreal team disgoring from their respective benches until there were no players left on the Canadiens' bench and five on the Toronto bench," Campbell said.

Roberts' action was "clearly not intended for any peaceful purpose," Campbell added, because he abandoned his stick and gloves.

"He must, therefore, be held primarily responsible for the subsequent developments including the expanded fighting and the intolerable delay of the game," the league president said.

For leaving the bench in connection with the same fracas, Campbell slapped $50 fines on 16 other players.

The Canadiens fined were: Jacques Laperriere, J. C. Tremblay, Ralph Backstrom, Dick Duff, Claude Provost, Bobby Rousseau, Henri Richard, Jean-Guy Talbot, Dave Balon and Noel Picard.

The Leafs fined were: George Armstrong, Ron Stewart, Dickie Moore, Bob Baun, Eddie Shack, Allan Stanley.

Canadian Men's Playoffs Sideline 'Big-Name' Skips

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The favorites have had a lean time of it in the provincial curling championships to decide representation at the Canadian final at Saskatoon, March 1-5.

In competitions across the country former provincial champions and highly regarded veterans have suffered a series of reverses, some of them little short of stunning.

UPSET IN B.C.

In the British Columbia finals at Kamloops Feb. 7, the underdog rink of the University of British Columbia, skipped by Jack Arnet, ousted veteran Buzz McGibone of Trail.

Arnet and his crew of Terry Miller, Glen Walker and Soren Jensen, had only played to the championship on the way to the final they defeated the defending world and Canadian championship rink of Lyall Dagg. Dagg had dropped out of his rink a few days previously because of business pressure.

Water Tower Fall Hurts Island Man

PORT ALBERNI—A Kildonan man, injured in a fall Saturday near his Alberni Inlet home, is in serious condition in West Coast General Hospital here.

Mrs. Fredea was unable to move her husband and waited beside him after telephoning the B.C. Air Lines office here.

A DeHavilland Beaver piloted by J. R. McKinnon made the mercy flight to the Alberni Inlet bay where the couple lives.

A. L. Andrews and Bud Lidstone accompanied the pilot and brought the injured man to the plane on a stretcher.

Nanaimo Merchants Decide Stand Today

Six-Day Shopping Wins Approval For Nearly All

NANAIMO—Six-day shopping for almost all stores here was approved, 4-3, by city council Monday night, but downtown merchants will meet today to decide whether they will fight it.

In other major news, the report of Vancouver planners Rawson and Williams on the future of Nanaimo's waterfront was released. Details are expected today.

THE VOTE

Mayor Maffeo and Aldermen Mega McDougall, Ted Barsby and Jack Parker voted yes as the six-day shopping bylaw received all but final reading.

Aldermen Gordon MacKay, Bus MacDonald and John Cook voted no.

Council split the same way on two motions which sought delays in six-day shopping.

10 A.M. MEETING

Former alderman Haig Burns, spokesman for six-day opponents, said downtown merchants will meet in the Eagles Hall at 10 a.m. to decide whether to fight final adoption of the bylaw.

The matter began last month when three building-supply firms won their bid for an end to Wednesday closing. They said they had to meet competition outside city limits.

CITE SHOPPING CENTRES

The same argument applied Monday night as proponents particularly mentioned two shopping centres planned outside the city.

The bylaw allows six-day shopping for car dealers, clothing stores, food markets, department stores, service shops, variety and novelty shops, and furniture, hardware and appliance dealers.

Barsby will continue to close Wednesdays and hairdressers Mondays.

'DICTATORIAL' ATTITUDE

Mr. Burns criticized council's "dictatorial" attitude in not hearing all the pros and cons. He said large stores favor six-day shopping, which has become an issue of "big business against little business."

Duncan Job Starts

DUNCAN—The long-awaited installation of curbs and gutters on the Trans-Canada Highway through the city began Monday.

The work is expected to be completed within four to six months, said a spokesman for the provincial highways department.

The entire gutter and curb project, with an estimated contract price of $158,990, includes 84 miles on the Trans-Canada highway from the silver bridge north and 36 miles on Trunk Road between the highway and the E & N railroad crossing.

The job was awarded to Standard Contractors of Vancouver some time ago.

Water Issue Settled

Two Flags to Top Duncan City Hall

DUNCAN—The new Maple Leaf flag and the Union Jack will fly side by side above city hall after Mayor Jack Dohson voted yes at a city council meeting Monday night.

Aldermen Hamish Mutter and James Saunders favored two flags and Aldermen Robert Mason and R. W. W. Cocks voted for one. Mayor Dohson broke the tie, after explaining:

"We will not be criticized for not scrapping this flag (Union Jack) so soon after Sir Winston Churchill's death... the same flag under which so many have died."

"I hate to see the Union Jack disregarded because we seem to lose too many things too fast. We respect the present but we also honor the past."

The flag decision overshadowed settlement of the long controversy over supply of water in 68 properties in the Somenos Lake VLA subdivision.

PRICES BY BYLAW

Council voted unanimously to sell water in bulk by meter to areas outside city boundaries at prices to be determined by city bylaw.

The Somenos water will go through North Cowichan.

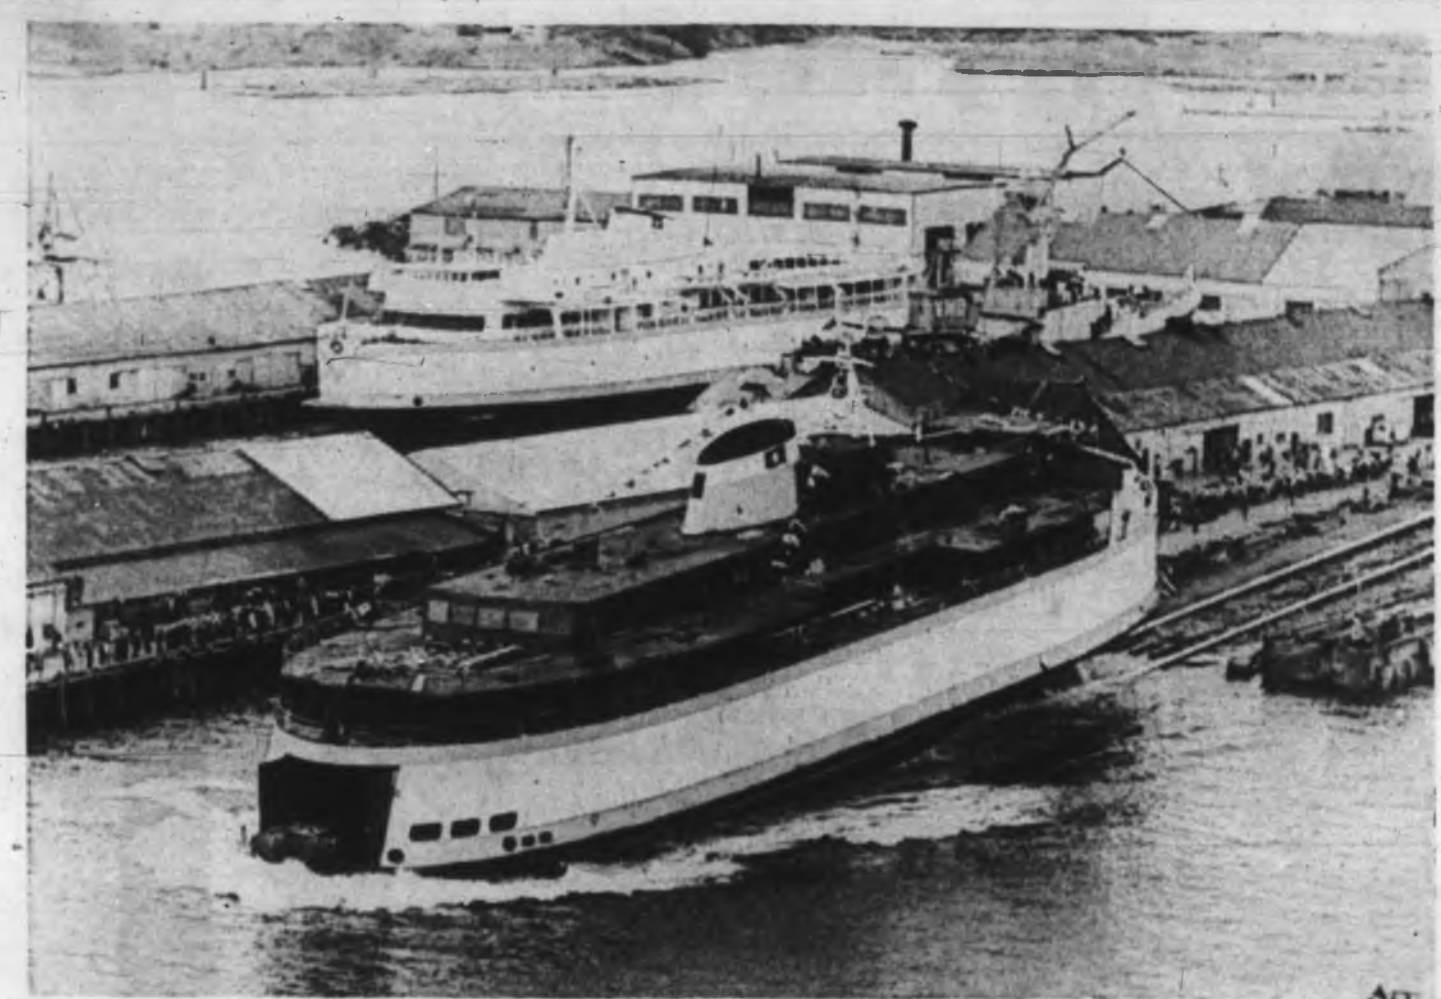

On Ald. Saunders' advice, council decided to consider a new agreement for water supplies on the Cowichan Indian reserve. Some sectors of the reserve are already drawing from the city system.

Sidewalks Contract $207,420

COURTENAY—City council Monday night chose Calgary Concrete Co. to carry out the five-year sidewalk program approved by voters in December. Its bid was $207,420.

The city submitted a bid of its own for $195,435, but a city contract would mean loss of about $18,000 in government aid. Other bids were Dawson Construction, $248,800; Brockbank and Hemmingsway, $276,835 and Ledingham Construction, $312,750.

The $7,016,875 school budget was passed.

Plea of Guilty Entered In Break-In at Firehall

NANAIMO—An 18-year-old volunteer fireman pleaded guilty in magistrate's court on Monday to a charge following the breaking and entering of the Lantzville volunteer fire department's hall early Saturday.

Wayne Edwards, Nanaimo Indian reserve, was given a suspended sentence to his 20th birthday, March 30, 1966, and placed on a 9 p.m. curfew for six months.

Police said Edwards stayed outside the firehall while another youth entered the building and stole beer and soft drinks and a third youth waited in a car.

They said Edwards had told the other youths there was beer in the building.

When police arrived, Edwards headed for a beach. He was later apprehended at his home.

A similar suspended sentence was given by Magistrate Lionel Beaver-Potts to Allan David Knight, 18, of 402 Harewood Road.

Knight pleaded guilty to the theft of tools from machines at the Nanaimo Lakes division of Crown Zellerbach Canada, Ltd., between Nov. 7 and 22 last year.

His suspended sentence will run until his 20th birthday, May 11, 1966. Knight was also given a three-month driving licence suspension and placed on a 9 p.m. curfew.

Thomas H. Currie, 20, of Wellington, was remanded to next Monday for a presentence report after pleading guilty to assault.

Court was told Currie saw Norman Krassman of Nanaimo go through a red light at Terminal and Comox.

He followed him to the Terminal Park shopping centre, police said, and there he beat Krassman "severely about the head and ribs."

Ferry No. 23

B.C. government ferry authority will build at least four ferries for its new Vancouver Island-Prince Rupert service, Premier Bennett said Monday as Queen of Burnaby was launched at VMD. Monday's ferry, 23rd in B.C. fleet, was launched by wife of Burnaby Socred MLA Charles McSorley. It cost $3,000,000 and will start work next summer on Island-Lower Mainland run.—(Ian McKinn)

Emergency Vehicles

Stay Out of Way Mountie Warns

PORT ALBERNI—Sgt. Roland Harding, head of the Port Alberni RCMP detachment, has issued a warning to motorists that they must yield the right-of-way to emergency vehicles.

He said there have been several instances recently in which drivers have disregarded both fire department vehicles and the ambulance.

Sgt. Harding said people who do not yield the right-of-way to ambulances, fire department vehicles or police cars responding to a call or acting under emergency circumstances are liable to fines of not more than $500 or to jail terms not exceeding three months, or both.

"It cannot be over-emphasized that any undue delay in an emergency vehicle responding to a call can compound a tragedy; a possibility which I am certain all thinking motorists are most anxious to avoid," he said.

Committee Backs Recreation Plan

WELLINGTON—Members of the Wellington centennial committee decided at a special week-end meeting to give full support to construction of a joint regional centre by all areas in the Nanaimo school district.

Committee member Bevan Savory said Monday: "It was felt that we must get off the ground now, as we are at least 10 years behind the times in recreation facilities. Our children especially need such a centre now, not sometime in the future."

The idea of a joint recreational centre was put forward by J. B. Litch, principal of the senior secondary school, at a joint meeting of all centennial committees in the district several weeks ago.

Cowichan Pupil Wins Ottawa Trip for Talk

DUNCAN—Cowichan Senior Secondary School student Leona Brammell's talk on B.C.-Yukon amalgamation Monday night won the annual Adventure in Citizenship public-speaking contest held by the Duncan Rotary Club.

She won as her prize an expense-paid trip to Ottawa in May, including meetings with political leaders and tours of government buildings.

Cowichan District Trustees

Witnesses Request School For Big Sunday Meeting

DUNCAN—The Cowichan district school board voted Monday night to decide in a closed meeting whether to grant a request from the local Jehovah's Witnesses group.

The group wants to rent the Cowichan Senior Secondary School gym and cafeteria on a Sunday and board policy has been against Sunday rentals so board employees will not have to work that day.

EDUCATION PROGRAM

The Witnesses plan a Bible education program on a Friday afternoon, Saturday and Sunday and say 800 to 1,000 people will attend. They said they would be willing to clean up the school under the supervision of one or two janitors and would also pay the janitors.

Trustees pointed out a supervisor has to be in attendance when a school building is used and felt that, if the policy is waived once, other groups might make similar requests.

Trustee Neil Dornier said his committee has agreed with the IWA on a contract for 50 school board employees. The board must still vote on the contract.

PAR WITH OTHERS

A wage increase of $19 a month will bring the salaries of 26 maintenance department members up to par with other maintenance employees.

Mr. Dornier's group also recommended a five per cent increase for all employees. They had asked for 15 per cent.

This also will be decided at a closed meeting.

Meets Saturday

The Victoria Parliamentary Law Study Unit will hold a special session next Saturday from 1 to 5 p.m. at the home of Mrs. T. F. Howe, 985 Ridgeway.

Speaker will be Ailsa Thompson of Seattle. The meeting is open to anyone interested and there will be a 50-cent admission fee.

Otherwise, Little Island Interest

Ensign Thefts Charged

Special to the Colonist

A Comox man was charged Monday afternoon with stealing Red Ensign flags from atop the Courtenay and Comox post offices earlier in the day of Canada's official change to the new flag.

RCMP officials said Art Constable will appear in magistrate's court again today. Bail has been set at $250.

They said the loss of the Red Ensigns was discovered late in the morning, shortly before the official change at noon.

One flag was taken from a

New Canadian flags were raised above both buildings at noon.

LITTLE INTEREST

Elsewhere on the Island, little interest was shown by the public in flag ceremonies.

Only two reporters and a photographer attended when postmaster H. J. Parsley officiated in Parkville, where the Parkville and District Chamber of Commerce had failed in a bid to become the first Canadian community to fly the flag.

Senior post office assistant Myrtle Hodgins and staff member Ada Johnston helped Mr. Parsley.

ENSIGN STILL FLIES

Also in Parkville, the Red Ensign continues to fly at the school and B.C. Forest Service ranger station until new flags can be obtained. It also flies at the Legion hall.

In Duncan, a check Monday showed new flags above federal government buildings, the Union Jack atop city hall, the Red Ensign above North Cowichan municipal hall and businesses flying everything from the new flag to the Union Jack.

TRAINMEN REBEL, STRIKE CONTINUES

VANCOUVER (CP) — Pacific Great Eastern Railway trainmen rebelled against their union leaders Monday night and continued to strike against the provincially-owned railway only hours after agreement was announced.

Picket lines went up again around PGE yards, and the trainmen said they would not return to work. They said they were sold down the river by their negotiating committee, which signed an agreement to end the strike that began Feb. 2 without permitting a vote among striking members of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen (CLC).

NOT UNTIL VOTE

The move came only hours after Labor Minister Leslie Peterson and representatives of the PGE and the brotherhood's negotiating committee emerged from a meeting to announce a settlement.

The railway then announced normal service on the 750-mile line from Vancouver to Fort St. John would resume today.

The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen sent a letter Monday night to J. S. Broadbent, general manager of the PGE, telling him the local's members would not go back to work until they vote on the new contract. The strike was called off at noon with the signing of a contract agreed to by J. W. Robinson, chairman of the brotherhood's PGE locals.

Before it was signed, members sought an injunction to prevent the ratification, but were too late.

ASK RESIGNATION

They called an emergency meeting, and asked Mr. Robinson to resign as general chairman of Local 1080 and 615.

A union spokesman said the strike is legal, not wildcat, and is based on the union's constitution.

PGE General Manager Broadbent said the trains would run regardless of what the local does.

Two freights left North Vancouver yards Monday night, apparently manned by engineers, with supervisory personnel acting as train crew.

A week after the 183 trainmen down and laid off 1,400 non-striking employees because of telephoned threats to them and their families.

Mediator G. Neil Perry made a report to the government on the strike, and the agreement signed at noon Monday was based on this report.

Australia Going To Dollar Plan

CANBERRA (Reuters) — Australia will switch to decimal currency Feb. 14, 1966. Federal Treasurer Harold Holt announced Sunday night. The Australian dollar will be worth half of the present Australian pound, or 51.20 Canadian.

Toasts, Jets, Tears Greet Maple Leaf

By CANADIAN PRESS

In a day of toasts and scarlet tunics, booming guns and howling jets, salutes and pledges of loyalty, cheers, smiles and some tears, Canada and the world greeted the new maple leaf flag Monday.

At the United Nations in New York, the new flag joined those of 114 other nations. The Red Ensign was lowered at noon and handed to a UN undersecretary to be retained as one of the original flags of the world body.

Japanese college girls rendered "God Save the Queen" in Tokyo as Canadian embassy officials hoisted the flag. About 100 Canadians were present.

At Royal Film Performance

Threat to Margaret Reported in London

LONDON (Reuters) — Two newspapers report a threat has been made against Princess Margaret.

Scotland Yard declined comment on the stories which appear in The Daily Mirror and The Sun in connection with the princess' attendance at the annual royal film performance here Monday night.

Margaret, her husband Lord Snowdon and Queen Mother Elizabeth went to the Odeon Theatre in Leicester Square for the performance, the premiere of the movie Lord Jim.

The Mirror quotes a police superintendent in charge of security at the Odeon: "We are taking special precautions because a threat has been made against Princess Margaret."

Save Rum, or Risk Mayhem

OTTAWA (CP) — Elected member John Goodall cautioned the Northwest Territories Council Monday against banning the sale of overproof rum in the north.

"If I voted for it, I could wrap myself in the Red Ensign and it still wouldn't save me from mayhem," said the 76-year-old former postmaster of Fort Simpson.

Council postponed action on a recommendation from commissioner B. G. Sivertz that the sale of overproof rum not be extended to territorial liquor stores in Inuvik, Frobisher Bay and other centres. It now is stocked by stores in Yellowknife and Fort Smith.

Mr. Sivertz said the stronger brew wasn't carried in the Mackenzie area because "Delta Indians and Eskimos apparently did not realize that the potency of overproof rum meant incapacity twice as fast."

Several council members said it isn't fair that the potent brew is available in some communities and not in others.

Exploding Peroxide Spatters Children

MAPLETON, N.D. (AP) — A shattering explosion roared through the tiny town of Mapleton Monday following the derailment of a peroxide-loaded freight train on the Northern Pacific's main line.

Children, playing in the schoolyard and on their way to school, were splattered with chemical debris. Dozens of buildings were damaged and windows on stores and homes were shattered. But no one was reported seriously injured.

Demonstrators In Viet Nam Fired On; 15 Die

SAIGON (AP) — Troops put down anti-government demonstrations in two northern towns of South Viet Nam Monday, killing 15 civilians in one of them. South Vietnamese government spokesmen here said the Viet Cong may have inspired both outbursts.

Moscow Warns:

'Air Strikes Could Spark World War'

MOSCOW (UPI) — Moscow Radio said today the United States air strikes against North Viet Nam could lead to a world war. It said the "responsibility for the dire consequences for such a policy rest with America."

"The flames of war starting in one place could easily spread to neighboring countries and, in the final count, embrace the whole world," Moscow Radio said.

Meanwhile, Chinese Foreign Minister Chen Yi called for a joint Soviet-Chinese policy of "concrete action" against "U.S. imperialism." The Chinese statement, monitored in Tokyo, said such a get-tough policy is the only way to consolidate and develop Sino-Soviet unity.

ATTACKS PLANNED

Moscow Radio said, "Judging from reports the United States is making preparations for new raids" on North Viet Nam.

"Large contingents of U.S. armed forces are being concentrated off the shores of Indo-China, including an extremely powerful striking force from the U.S. 7th Fleet."

Message

MOSCOW (AP) — A senior British diplomat met for 30 minutes Monday with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei I. Gromyko. He hinted later they discussed the Viet Nam crisis and that he may be carrying a Soviet message back to London.

Threat

HONG KONG (AP) — The Communist Chinese newspaper Ta Kung Pao said Monday China not only will enter the Vietnamese war but also will reopen the Korean war if U.S. troops cross the 17th parallel into North Viet Nam.

Pickets

MONTREAL (CP) — Some 300 demonstrators picketed the United States consulate Sunday in protest against U.S. military action in Viet Nam. The 90-minute march was the third and largest protest since U.S. bombing raids of North Viet Nam began.

New Premier

Last Lost

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI) — Laotian and North Vietnamese forces have captured the last rightwing stronghold in north-eastern Laos, a Laotian army high command spokesman said today.

The spokesman said Houa Muong, 165 miles northeast of Vientiane, fell before an attack by a combined Communist force estimated at six battalions, supported by heavy artillery and anti-aircraft weapons.

Working on Delivery

China Reported Ready To Test Hydrogen Bomb

LONDON (UPI) — Communist China plans to test a second nuclear device very shortly, informed sources said Monday. It was learned it is likely to be a hydrogen device.

China exploded its first nuclear device last October, and experts said later it showed Peking is further advanced in the field than suspected.

It was understood Monday that Peking has been accelerating its nuclear-weapons program and the development of some form of delivery system.

The Chinese Reds apparently are pushing the nuclear program to boost prestige. The closest thing to an official hint of Peking's nuclear ambitions came in the Peking Review, a government weekly, which said:

"China will spare no effort to scale the peaks in these matters and catch up and surpass the most advanced imperialist countries in modern science and technology."
